Reagan Sees Expansion Of '72 Economy

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan has forecast a "broadly based" economic expansion in California in 1972 with unemployment dipping below 6 per cent late in the year.

He said the state's jobless rate, which averaged 7 per cent during most of 1971, is expected to "fluctuate" around 6.1 per cent for most of the year and drop to 5.8 per cent by the fourth quarter.

In his annual economic report to the legislature, the governor Wednesday said California has "come through the national economic decline of the past year-and-a-half with a firm economic foundation which will support rapid and substantial growth in the future."

"By the end of the year it was evident that California would experience strong economic growth in 1972," Reagan said, pointing to a 1.7 per cent increase in jobs last December over the previous year.

He cited a resumption of growth in trade and service industries and indications of renewed expansion in nonaerospace manufacturing as "significant signs of strength." He also reported a decrease in business failures and a boost in the number of new corporations.

Reagan said employment is expected "to be up strongly" in 1972—increasing by an estimated 176,000 to 8,710,000 "as the economic recovery gains strength."

He indicated the worst may be over for the depressed aerospace industry, where employment has fallen off 30 per cent during the past four years.

"Aerospace employment may decline moderately early in the year, with subsequent leveling and gradual expansion," Reagan said. "For the entire year this industry is expected to average 435,000 jobs."

The state's population, which reached 20,265,000 on July 1, 1971, is expected to increase to 23,400,000 by 1980 and employment to 9,800,000.

TWA Extortionist 'Knows Way Around'

Threat To Jets Forces Long Air Travel Delays

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

An extortionist who knows "his way around the industry" today brought long delays to the nation's air traffic. Airlines and airports from coast to coast searched passengers, planes and luggage because of a threat to blow up four Trans World Airlines jets.

One bomb tore open the cockpit of an empty TWA plane parked at the Las Vegas airport Wednesday. Another bomb was sniffed out by a police dog at Kennedy Airport in New York 12 minutes before it was set to go off Tuesday.

However, the deadline for the two other explosions passed without incident, a TWA spokesman said.

In another incident, an "inoperable explosive device" was removed from a suitcase in the baggage department of a United Air Lines jet when it landed in Seattle Tuesday. "Apparently, the explosive device was rendered inoperable by the person who put it on board," said U.S. attorney Sam Pitkin.

Authorities declined to say whether they thought the device on the UAL flight was related to the attempt to extort $2 million from TWA with the threat of four bombings.

However, the bomb that ripped open the cockpit and forward section of the TWA plane at McCarren Airport in Las Vegas was a plastic, C4 military explosive which had been concealed in a first aid kit in the pilot's compartment.

The bomb found in New York was the same type and had been planted in a standard black attache case marked "crew" in the cabin. The Las Vegas plane also had left Kennedy Tuesday night and discharged its passengers in Las Vegas.

"Whoever put it on the plane had to know his way around the industry," said a TWA spokesman after the Las Vegas bombing. "He would have to know a considerable amount about the aircraft"—a Boeing 707.

No one was injured in that explosion, though a deputy sheriff guarding all five TWA planes at McCarren was parked in his car 200 feet from the plane.

Both the airline and the FBI maintained a silence on whether they were taking any steps to meet the extortionist's demands that the money be stuffed into two green duffel bags left in a 25-cent locker at Kennedy airport. There were reports that a chartered jet which made a mysterious flight to Atlanta Tuesday might have have carried the money.

TWA, however, issued a statement saying reports that it

Belfast Bomb Store Linked To 3 Deaths

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—An explosion ripped two private houses in the Roman Catholic Falls Road area of Belfast today, killing three persons and wounding four. Police said they suspected one of the houses was a bomb factory for the Irish Republican Army.

Residents told police the bomb was thrown from a passing car but police said they were convinced the explosion came from one of the houses and that the house might either have been a bomb factory or a bomb storage area for the IRA.

The explosion brought the death toll in Northern Ireland violence to 267.

The blast came as Protestants vowing to lash back at sectarian violence in Northern Ireland, said they would kill 10 Roman Catholics,including one priest, for every policeman or soldier slain in Ulster. The Protestant Loyalist Workers' Association ordered members to walk off their jobs for four hours later today in a show of strength and in defiance of a plea from Premier Brian Faulkner.

Civilians, British soldiers and Ulster police clawed through the rubble with bare hands seeking possible further victims of the blast while priests and white-robed nuns ministered to the injured and emotionally shaken residents.

A woman who lived in the neighborhood said at least four children were in the demolished houses.

In Londonderry, British soldiers fought a gunbattle with snipers who fired 22 shots at their post in the Brandywell District, an army spokesman said. No casualties were reported.

The Protestant Workers' Union chairman Billy Hill, an outspoken labor leader in the Belfast shipyards, ordered members throughout Ulster to walk out in what he called a massive show of strength.

Hub Town Meeting Ends In Shouting Over Density

By THERON A. NEWELL

The San Anselmo Town Meeting was abruptly adjourned last night by moderator Marian Kelley when persons in the audience started shouting at each other about growth, density and housing units.

The crowd of approximately 100 persons quickly left the library of the Red Hill School without carrying the arguments further.

Councilman James F. Reed remarked after the hall had almost emptied that "There would be some heads butted together over this," at future town meeting committee meetings, and city council sessions.

The three-hour session — second in a series of four — had been calm and orderly until the moderator tried to formulate some statements and conclusions. She asked if tme density of San Anselmo was high enough and about 75 per cent of the audience raised their hands.

Then someone shouted that the question was unfair — did she mean more people or more housing units. This set off shouts and catcalls among the audience so that she abruptly adjourned the meeting.

Before that, the meeting had been sedate and slow paced. The panel of six members, all with housing backgrounds and the audience, agreed on several major points and disagreed on one point.

The major point of disagreement was what the city should do with second dwellings on single-family lots. Estimates of their number ranged from 100 to 35.

Some of the older residents wanted them abated, but many claimed that some of the second houses were better than other single-family houses.

No group, including spokesmen for a former citizens committee on housing, could agree on standards for allowing a use permit for the existing nonconforming second houses.

Panelist Mary Donnelly, a former member of the San Anselmo Planning Commission, said that San Anselmo started out as a community of summer residents of San Francisco people and that many of them erected "just shacks." She said that the city now has a popula-

Sausalito Declines Moratorium Stand

By PAT ANGLE

As more than 100 persons waited expectantly for its decision, the Sausalito City Council last night declined to take a stand on a proposed one-year moratorium on all land subdivision in the city.

After listening to more than three hours of emotionally-charged debate, the council heard first reading of the ordinance establishing the ban. But individual councilmen did not indicate if they would support the moratorium when it comes up for adoption March 21.

The council, with Stephen A. Fraser dissenting, did agree that if a moratorium is enacted, it would not affect commercial planned unit development in Sausalito.

But subdivisions, lot splits and residential planned unit developments would be banned during the moratorium.

The moratorium was recommended in January by the city planning commission to give officials time to prepare an open space plan for Sausalito (as required by state law) and to revise the city's subdivision ordinance.

Persons wishing to proceed with planned unit developments during the ban can obtain a variance if they can prove their land will not be affected by the open space plan or new regulations.

The lengthy public hearing began, with moratorium proponents speaking first, after the council moved the meeting to Central School to accomodate the overflow crowd which jammed the council chambers.

It was clear that most of the 19 residents, who pleaded for the ban, were convinced it would give the city a chance to preserve as open space the remaining undeveloped land in Sausalito. Most of the discussion centered around 160 acres

Chou, N. Vietnam Session Is Reported

PARIS (UPI) — Chinese Premier Chou En-lai has conferred with North Vietnamese leaders in an apparent bid to explain the significance of his talks with President Nixon concerning Indochina, diplomatic sources said today.

The sources said Chou has met with North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong and presumably other Indochinese revolutionary leaders having their headquarters or embassies in North Vietnam.

Weinmann Seeks Bagley Position

Robert D. Weinmann, a conservative Republican from Marinwood, announced today he will run against veteran Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, in the June 6 primary election.

Weinmann charged that Bagley is "a stale, jaded professional politician" after 18 years in Sacramento. He also accused Bagley of writing "the only statewide forced busing bill in the United States that will cost the taxpayers of California $1 billion a year to implement."

Weinmann long has been active in Republican organizations, and is presently Marin County chairman of the Citizens for Neighborhood Schools. His group has campaigned in Marin on behalf of the Wakefiled Initiative to repeal Bagley's school district integration bill that became effective last Saturday.

Bagley and Assemblyman Floyd Wakefield, R-South Gate, have feuded for months on whether or not Bagley's bill would force busing of school children.

Weinmann has been president of the Marin Coordinating Council of the California Republican Assembly and First Congressional District Director for the CRA. He was a charter

Ski Mask Bank Theft In Tomales

Only branch manager Harry Bonnikson Jr. and three customers were in the bank when the robbery occurred at about 10:30 a.m. (For a story on yesterday's bank robber in San Rafael, see page 3.)

Bank of America officials in San Francisco said the West Marin robber indicated he had a weapon as he handed Bonnikson a note on white paper reading, "Get all the money or I'll kill all of you."

He was handed the money and fled onto Main Street and escaped on foot.

He was described as being between 20 and 30 years old, about five feet-seven inches tall, slightly built and wore a navy blue jacket. Because of the ski mask, no other description was obtained from witnesses.

EOC Accepts Lomax Resignation

By ERIK M. INGRAM

By secret ballot, the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council last night formally accepted the resignation of Executive Director W. Robert Lomax Jr.

The action, approved on an 18-to-7 vote with two abstentions, brought to a formal close more than two months of behind-the-scenes fighting among board members over the executive director's continued employment.

On Friday, in a letter bitterly critical of the board and press, Lomax quit his job, calling it impossible to continue amid controversy over the agency's financial problems.

Following a 15-minute closed session, the board appointed Doretha Mitchell, an EOC program supervisor, to succeed Lomax as active executive director.

She will be paid $1,425 per month during the two or three months it will take to find a permanent replacement. The board also agreed to contract a financial consulting firm to revamp the poverty agency's accounting system which was blamed last night for much of the trouble.

The acceptance of Lomax's resignation followed lengthy but superficial review of preliminary findings by federal audit and investigating teams.

The two teams were ordered into the Marin EOC controversy by the regional headquarters of the Office of Economic Opportunity after it was revealed by the Independent-Journal that the local agency had received and then used nearly $63,000 in federal funds mistakenly sent it.

Maria Fort, acting chief of the community support division of the regional office in San Francisco, told the board audit team findings would not be released for at least 30 days.

The delay, she said, is needed to give the local agency's bookkeeping staff time to answer and clarify findings.

Findings of the three-member investigating team — brought in to study programs and administration — will not be released for at least a week, pending review by the regional office.

However, preliminary findings and general conclusions by the investigating team indicate several things in need of improvement, she said.

Those include board and staff organization, program planning community involvement and documentation of who exactly is served by the poverty agency.

While Mrs. Fort could offer no clue to the audit team's findings, board chairman Robert P. Simmons said he, Lomax and other board officers had met with the auditors and discussed matters in general.

Simmons said discussion indicated that the "agency's accounting system and controls are inadequate."

He blamed the fiscal situation on the lack of a full-time ac-

Official Protest

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (UPI) — Pakistani Foreign Minister Sultan Mohammad Khan filed an offical protest yesterday criticizing Indian troops for firing on Pakistani prisoners of war.

In New Delhi, the Indian Defense Ministry said an inquiry into the incident had been ordered and the International Red Cross was informed. The ministry said the incident occurred Tuesday when the prisoners became violent and tried to overpower the guards.

An undetermined number of prisoners were wounded or killed.

Green's Mission

BANGKOK (UPI) — U.S. Assistant Secretary of State Marshall Green left for Kuala Lumpuer today after assuring Thai leaders the United States will honor its commitments to their country.

"I gave the leaders here assurances that the United States remains faithful to its security commitments to Thailand and that we are determined to continue our economic and military assistance to Thailand," Green said in a statement at the airport.

Green is on a 13-nation tour to explain President Nixon's Peking visit to Asian leaders.

Turk Charged

NICE, France (UPI) — Turkish Sen. Kudret Bayhan was formally charged and ordered jailed today pending trial for attempted smuggling of 321 pounds of morphine into France from Italy.

Bayhan's chauffeur, Ibrahim Iker, was also charged and ordered held.

The two men, who were halted when they tried to cross the border from Italy Sunday with the brown powdery drug hidden in their car, faced penalties of 2 to 10 years in jail with fines of $1,000 to $100,000 or straight jail terms of 10 to 20 years.

They were charged under the French health code for "infraction of the legislation on narcotics or traffic of narcotics."

New Protest

PARIS (UPI) — North Vietnam, in a protest from its peace mission here, said today the United States has committed "extremely serious acts of war" by launching new air strikes against its territory.

The protest, issued by Hanoi's delegation to the Paris peace talks, also condemned the boycott of today's session by the American and Saigon delegation.

The American and South Vietnamese delegations decided not to attend today's meeting for the second straight week to protest a Communist walkout on Feb. 24. Hanoi and Viet Cong delegates staged the walkout to protest alleged U.S. air attacks.

Kidnapers Rejected

PARIS (UPI) — Workers at the huge Renault auto plant today turned down a request by the kidnapers of a Renault auto executive that they hold a mass meeting and decide what to do with the victim.

Robert Nogrette, 63, was kidnaped yesterday by a group of young Maoists who are members of an extreme leftwing group called "The New Popular Resistance." They said Norgrette, labor relations director of the plant, was taken in retaliation for the death of Rene-Pierre Overney, 23, who was shot Feb. 25 by a Renault security guard outside the factory's gates during a demonstration.

Reds Move In

VIENTIANE (UPI) — Defense Minister Sisouk Na Champassak said today North Vietnamese troops have overrun government defensive positions along Highway 23 and are 11 miles east of Pakse, the key commercial town on the Mekong River in southern Laos.

The advancing Communists, estimated at 1,500 to 2,000 men, were supported by artillery, mortars, rockets and Soviet-made T-34 tanks, Sisouk said.

"We will take all necessary measures to defend Pakse," he said. "We cannot afford to let it fall because if we lost it all six provincial towns in southern Laos will fall."

$1.3 Million Richer

LONDON (UPI) — Ken Grimes, a balding, bright-eyed, gentle man of 62, said it was "frightfully bad" for an accountant.

Frightfully bad because he became more than $1.3 million richer last weekend and didn't realize it.

Ken — "Mr. Grimes doesn't sound right somehow," he told newsmen Wednesday — won $1,332,988 on a soccer pool.

"I thought I had lost again," he said. "I checked my coupon on Saturday as usual and was sure I had nothing coming."

He didn't get the news until Monday when a man from the pool company came into Ken's office at a home for the disabled in Cheshire, about 160 miles north-west of London.

"You've won," the man said. "In fact, you've won the largest amount ever paid out on a soccer pool."

He had picked seven tie games.

Granddaughter Of Franco Weds

More than 2,000 guests—most of them royalty, nobility or celebrities—looked on joyously, impressed with the pomp and pageantry.

For the grandfather, Generalissimo Francisco Franco, Wednesday's marriage of Maria del Carmen Martinez-Bordiu Franco, 21, to Prince Alfonso de Borbon, 35, the wedding symbolized another facet of his long career. It made Franco, 79, a distant relative of most European royal houses.

The wedding took place in Franco's El Pardo Palace, which was guarded by lancers in plumed helmets and medieval uniforms.

The bride wore a white satin dress by famed designer Pedro Balenciaga and a diamond tiara. But it was her grandfather most of the guests came to see.

Wearing a red sash and the blue uniform of a captain-general of Spain's navy, Franco walked erect and looked spry, despite some reports he had been ailing.

Franco sat on his granddaughter's right during the ceremony, performed by Madrid Archbishop Cardinal Vicente Enrique Tarancon, and attentitively followed every move.

Later he shook the hands of hundreds of guests and chatted amicably with the invited, which included Princess Grace of Monaco, Philippine First Lady Imelda Marcos and the Begum Aga Khan.

Many of the guests wept during the ceremony or at the reception afterwards. Luis Miguel Dominguin, the jet set's favorite bullfighter, said: "Thank God there were some warm tears among the cold diamonds.

Despite the glitter, the food after the wedding was as frugal as Franco's taste: soup, shrimp and saddle of veal, served with Spanish champagne and country wines from Franco's cellar.

Lobbyist Expected To Talk Monday

DENVER (UPI) — Lobbyist Dita Davis Beard was reported "out of danger" Wednesday, and doctors said she should be able to answer questions by Monday about a settlement involving the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. (ITT) antitrust case.

Dr. L.M. Radetsky said Mrs. Beard, 53, had "passed the danger point." She has been hospitalized since Friday at the Rocky Mountain Osteopathic Hospital for treatment of a heart ailment.

The Senate Judiciary Committee wants to question Mrs. Beard about a memo she allegedly wrote linking settlement of the ITT case to a $400,000 donation to the Republican National Convention.

Radetsky said Mrs. Beard would be kept in the hospital's intensive care unit until Sunday and then moved into a private room. He said Senate investigators could quiz her there.

Meanwhile in Washington, columnist Jack Anderson charged today that Richard G. Kleindienst was "unfit to be attorney general" because of the "major role" he played in settlement of antitrust cases against International Telephone and Telegraph Corp.

Anderson appeared as a witness before the Senate Judiciary Committee, which is considering President Nixon's appointment of Kleindienst as attorney general and the ITT case.

"There can be no doubt that Mr. Kleindienst played a major role in the settlement of the ITT antitrust cases," Anderson said in prepared testimony. "He helped bring about a settlement experts have denounced as a sham."

Anderson said Kleindienst is a man who "has trouble recognizing a crime when he sees one".

Job Antibias Bill Goes To President

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Barring a sudden turnabout by President Nixon, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) soon will have broadened powers to fight job discrimination under a compromise bill given final congressional approval Wednesday.

The legislation, passed by the Senate last week and the only major civil rights bill likely to come before the 92nd Congress, cleared the House on a 303-110 roll call vote and was sent to the White House for Nixon's signature.

The measure would authorize the EEOC to seek federal court enforcement of any ruling by the agency that an employer was using a hiring or promotion policy which discriminated on the basis of race, creed, sex or national origin. Under the law establishing the EEOC six years ago, it can only seek to conciliate job discrimination disputes.

Nixon was expected to sign the bill into law because, as the administration had recommended, it would not give the EEOC any authority to issue cease-and-desist orders against employers. Civil Rights groups and Senate liberals had tried to push through a measure providing authority to issue such orders.

If signed by the President, the legislation would give the EEOC jurisdiction for the first time over an estimated 10 million state and local government workers. It also would enable the agency to act in cases involving employers of 15 or more workers and unions with 15 or more members. At present, only units with 25 or more are covered.

Under the new law, an employe able to win an EEOC judgment of firing due to discrimination could get back pay for up to two years from the time he filed a complaint with the agency and a court acted on the EEOC ruling.

Infants Must Take TB Tests

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Parents of babies born between Dec. 14, 1971 and Feb. 23, 1972, at Cincinnati General Hospital are being asked to return their infants for tuberculosis examinations.

The hospital disclosed Wednesday that a nurse's aide working in the newborn nursery was found to have pulmonary tuberculosis. The discovery was made Feb. 23 and confirmed March 3, the hospital said.

WINE NOTES #3

We at the Bourbon Shops have a small battle going with the people at Windsor-Tiburon Vintners. For several months now we have featured in our stores Windsor Vineyards wines under the Sonoma Classic Vineyards label. Windsor was anxious to sell us the wines, but in all of their direct mail literature they say that the wines are only available direct from the winery, knowing full well we carry the same wines with the Sonoma label. The reason we carry the Windsor wines is because they are darn good. Five years or so ago such wasn't always the case, but vast improvements have been made at Windsor. We recommend the wines to you and stand behind them with confidence. And how about that Tiburon Vintners stock!

New wines arriving this month are: David Bruce - about six selections; Nepenthe Cellars - four selections at least; Bargetto - several selections; Pedrizetti; and, hopefully, Martin Ray who is famous for producing the most expensive wines in America, and also, the best.

We are very sorry, but we ran out of the February Wine of the Month, Chateau Beausejour. It seems that many people bought one bottle to try, and came back for a case or two. Good news is that we have a few more cases on order which should arrive by the fifteenth. The price will remain the same.

Police Nab Suspect In Bank Theft Spree

Sammi Lee Smith, arrested in San Francisco yesterday after a high speed chase by a Marin County Sheriff's lieutenant, was to be arraigned on bank robbery charges today before a federal judge in San Francisco.

Smith, 29, allegedly robbed, or attempted to rob, four banks yesterday. The fourth holdup, at the Redwood Bank at Fourth and E Streets in San Rafael, led to his capture by Sheriff's Lt. Robert Godini.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents said Smith told them he was an unemployed musician who had recently moved west from New York City. He gave no west coast address and had no identification on him when arrested, agents said.

The arrest came after the stolen car Smith was driving plowed head on into a parked truck at 14th Avenue and Lake Street in San Francisco. The crash followed a wild chase by Godini — hitting speeds above 100 miles per hour — from near the Marin City exit of Highway 101, where Godini first spotted the car, down Highway 101, across the Golden Gate Bridge and for several blocks in San Francisco before Smith's crackup.

All Marin County law enforcement agencies had responded to a "777" bulletin put out by San Rafael police minutes after the robbery at 12:03 p.m. Godini and police from throughout the county immediately took up predesignated positions, setting up a sort of visual roadblock to cut off the robber's escape.

Police said Smith has a busy day yesterday, starting at about 10:50 a.m. when he passed a note reading, "Give me all the money," to a teller at a San Francisco branch of the Bank of America.

It was unknown why, but Smith grabbed his note back and left that bank with no money. Ten minutes later, he passed the same note, written in ink on a yellow bank withdrawal slip, to a teller at another San Francisco branch of the Bank of America.

He reportedly got about $200 at that bank. Unsatisfied, however, he showed up at the Sausalito branch of the the Bank of America, 750 Bridgeway, and handed the same yellow note to a teller there.

This attempt proved unsuccessful, and Smith made his way to San Rafael and the Redwood Bank.

Redwood teller Jennifer A. Ghee, 20, told police she noticed him waiting in line for another teller. He was pacing back and forth, Mrs. Ghee said, and she asked if she could help him.

He approached her window and gave her the now well worn yellow note. She handed over a packet of money — believed by bank officials today to be about $840 — and triggered an alarm to San Rafael police.

Smith — dressed in blue jeans, a long yellow ski parka and a turquoise ski hat — fled the bank. He was struck by a car as he ran across the street but was not injured.

Fifty-five seconds after Mrs. Ghee had triggered the alarm, San Rafael police were at the bank. Four minutes later a description of the getaway car, a late model Oldsmobile station wagon, was broadcast over the police communications network, and it was spotted by Godini about seven minutes later.

The car, police said, had been stolen in San Francisco.

Godini pulled out in pursuit of the car, radioed for and was joined by California Highway Patrol units, and the chase began. Godini arrested Smith at gunpoint as Smith jumped from his car after it struck the truck in San Francisco.

Although early police reports described the robber as "armed and dangerous" no weapon was found when Smith was arrested.

Democrats Head To Florida; McCloskey May Withdraw

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Democratic presidential contenders began pushing for support today in Florida, site of the next primary election on Tuesday, and President Nixon's chief challenger for the GOP nomination openly considered dropping out of the race.

Among those flying into Florida were Democratic Sens. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and George S. McGovern of South Dakota, each claiming to have won a victory of sorts in last Tuesday's New Hampshire primary and seeking to maintain campaign momentum.

But most of the other competitors seemed to agree that New Hampshire proved only that the contest for their party's nomination is a long way from being decided. And most also were reluctant to predict how much the Florida voters would be influenced by Muskie's ability to capture only 48 per cent of the ballots in his neighboring state while McGovern garnered 37 per cent.

Joining Muskie and McGovern in Florida were the other major Democratic hopefuls—Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, Henry Jackson of Washington, New York Mayor John V. Lindsay and Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, widely regarded as the favorite because of his strong opposition to school busing.

As the Democrats resumed their struggle, Rep. Paul N. McCloskey of California was heading home to meet with his main advisers and supporters before deciding definitely if he would remain an active candidate against Nixon. McCloskey indicated that he would file for reelection to Congress from the 17th District of California before tomorrow's filing deadline.

McCloskey had said he would withdraw from the campaign if he got less than 20 per cent of the vote in New Hampshire. That was precisely what he got, but he told reporters Wednesday that he was $40,000 in debt and didn't see how he could stay on as a candidate with no prospect of major financial aid in the near future.

In any event, McCloskey said his name could not be taken off the ballot in five more primaries under registration rules and that he would keep "speaking out" in the months ahead.

As for the President, who received 69 per cent of the New Hampshire vote, White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon was "pleased and grateful ... for the strong vote of confidence."

Nixon's conservative challenger, Rep. John M. Ashbrook of Ohio, said he thought the President suffered a "major setback" in New Hampshire by losing 30 per cent of the vote. And he said he would stay in the race right through next June's California primary if his money held out.

Muskie, meeting with reporters before leaving New Hampshire Wednesday, minimized the importance of the primary there and of his failure to go over the 50 per cent mark in balloting. "I've got to win in the other primaries or at least make a consistent showing, so of what relevance is the percentage to me," he said.

Nonetheless, he acknowledged that McGovern had made "a good showing."

"was prepared to pay ransom ... are incorrect."

Charles C. Tillingahast Jr., chairman of the board of TWA, told newsmen in New York last night that he would answer no questions because to do so may interfere with efforts to catch the extortionist and "apprehending the people involved in this is our concern."

Asked whether it was safe to fly TWA, Tillinghast said that, to answer the question, would be to "publicize what we have done or not done."

All around the world, TWA searched each of its 239 planes in service before takeoff. Passengers, luggage, mail freight also were examined. "What we're doing is checking everything that goes in from top to bottom," a spokesman said.

Many TWA flights were delayed and some canceled because of new bomb threats which apprently were hoaxes. The airline said it had received "dozens" of bomb threats. The FBI in Washington said at least half a dozen of the threats were serious enough to require FBI action.

In London, the tional Air Transport Association (IATA) has told the world's airlines that another attempt to ransom or hijack an airliner may be staged in the next seven days, officials at London Airport said today.

The officials said security officers here and at other world airports instituted intensive checks as a result of the IATA warning which was based on intelligence reports from Japan.

The officials quoted the warning as saying in part "it is possible that the hijacking attempt may be made by an individual carrying a diplomatic passport and claiming immunity from search in an endeavor to carry weapons and explosives on to an airliner."

Sausalito To Retain All Teachers

The Sausalito School District will retain all its 32 teachers for the 1972-73 school year, the Sausalito School board decided last night, according to Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg.

After more than four hours of discussion, the board voted unanimously to retain its certificated staff, but immediately began a reduction in force through attrition by not replacing teachers who resign, he said.

The board said the district needs "to continue instructional programs now in existence and expand them."

All teachers can be retained under the present district budget of $1.3 million, according to trustees, by reducing capital expenditures and undistributed reserves for next year.

The school board, which successfully passed a two-year extension of its $2.20 general tax rate in an election Tuesday, also agreed to retain two principals for Bayside and Martin Luther King schools.

Trustees decided that since the district uses an average of two to three substitute teachers each day, it should assign three teachers to permanent substitute duty. The board estimated this action will save Sausalito up to $16,000 annually.

Youths Save Stand From Set Fire

Two youths, who happened to be passing by, saved the Novato Little League refreshment stand at Arroyo Avichi from burning last night after someone attempted to set it afire, according to Novato police.

Arlin L. Harmon, 11, of 746 Plaza Hermosa and Paul John English, 13, of 1555 Center Road, saw the flames inside the wooden structure and several unidentified persons running away from the area, police said.

Using water from a faucet in the building, they doused burning papers on a counter. If the flames had gone unchecked they could have destroyed the stand, officers said.

There was evidence that fires were started in two places, but one fire burned out by itself, police said.

Licensing Bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill requiring that pet shops be licensed in an effort to "eliminate unhealthy and harmful" conditions was introduced Wednesday by Sen. John Holmdahl, D-Oakland.

Court Told Trident Money Was Werber's

Much of the money taken in the amphibious robbery of the Trident Restaurant in Sausalito last October apparently belonged to former restaurant owner Frank N. Werber, now in jail for a marijuana conviction.

Restaurant manager Louis Ganapoler testified about the money taken during the robbery yesterday during the trial of Edward W. Devaney, 32, accused of being one of the three men who committed it.

Devaney's trial is being heard by Judge Henry J. Broderick and a jury of seven men and five women in Marin Superior Court.

Ganapoler said the restaurant safe which was opened with blow torches contained an envelope with $8,000 or $9,000 in it, which Werber had asked be kept in it while he was moving from one home to another.

Also in the safe, Ganapoler said, was another $23,000 which he testified had been borrowed from one of the owners. After court Ganapoler said that money also belonged to Werber.

(Werber, former manager of the Kingston Trio, is serving a six-month sentence at Marin County Jail for a marijuana conviction two years ago. He reportedly sold his interest in the restaurant last year, but still works there.)

In addition to Werber's money, Ganapoler said the robbers got approximately $13,000 in weekend receipts and cash used for change.

Earlier yesterday, two restaurant maintenance men, Patrick Pendleton and Thomas Ribar, told how they were surprised early in the morning of Oct. 25 by three armed men in wetsuits who forced them to lie on the floor of the restaurant kitchen.

Another man, arrested in connection with the robbery, William F. Ettleman, 48, of Oakland, was released when the district attorney's office said it did not have enough evidence to hold him for trial.

LANDS

of land on Wolfback Ridge, the only large open area remaining, which owners Frank Lynch and Edward R. Fitzsimmons are seeking to develop into a 204-unit single-family subdivision.

Councilman Wyman Hicks was unconvinced a ban would achieve the result most of its advocates apparently hoped for. "How are we going to acquire this open space, especially Wolfback Ridge,?" he asked. "Can we get the federal government to add it to the Golden Gate National Recreation area? Or can we pass a bond issue to finance it?

Hicks added: "If we can't think of any way to answer this, then all this talk of a moratorium has no merit."

Most who favored the moratorium made no proposal for land acquisition, but confined themselves to discussing the need for open space.

"We have got to have more parks; if you doubt that, go over to Angel Island on a weekend," said Helen Vander Male, secretary of the Wolfback Ridge Association.

Dr. Stephen Davis told the council people have begun to feel that a developer does not have the right to move into an area and do whatever he wants just because he owns land.

Attorney Ted Williams chastised the open space proponents, saying they had suggested no methods to acquire remaining undeveloped private land. "I've heard a lot of pompous rhetoric about how ugly things are getting," he said, "but you ignore the fact that our federal and state constitutions prohibit taking private land without just compensation."

One woman said she would be willing to pay higher taxes to acquire the ridge.

As it became apparent the desire for a moratorium focused on the hope that Wolfback Ridge would not be developed, Fitzsimmons rose to protest. "You want to deprive me and my co-owner of the constitutional right to develop our property," he accused the audience. "Conservation means only one thing to you — to save what you've got and never mind the rights of others."

Fitzsimmons said Lynch is involved in bankruptcy proceedings and may lose his part of the land through forfeiture if development, which the pair has been seeking for two years, is stalled another year.

He contended the development they envision would create more open space than now exists in any developed area of the city. "Only 2 per cent of 160 acres would be developed," he said. "How much more open space could you want?"

"Do you want to buy Wolfback Ridge?" Fitzsimmons asked in a choked voice. "It's worth about $2 million and we'll sell it to you for a fair price. But," he added with emotion, "you can't take it away from us."

"Why do you need a moratorium to prepare an open space plan and change your subdivision regulations?" Fitzsimmons asked the council. "Moratoriums were designed for when a real emergency exists, when the public and its needs are in great danger or peril," he said. "It's such a serious matter that the law requires that four members of a five man council must approve it."

Fitzsimmons said state law requires that the city make an inventory of its open space by June 30, 1972. "All they are asking for is an inventory (which the city has already completed), not a complete plan of what the city should acquire and how it should go about it."

The developer also pointed out that whatever the city submits to the state must be turned in by June 30. "That's only four months away, so why are you requesting a year's moratorium?" he asked.

Eight persons spoke in support of Fitzsimmons.

The council agreed to give more thought to how land could be acquired before adopting a moratorium.

LOMAX

Among the general conclusions reached was that the misdirected $63,000 had been used primarily to cover the agency's $30,000 deficit this year.

How those funds are to be repaid, as demanded by the federal government, remained in question last night.

Most serious of the discrepancies found by the auditors was the practice by some employees, including Lomax, of using EOC credit cards for personal use and then repaying the agency through payroll deductions.

Lomax currently has an unspecified amount of unclarified credit card bills, some of which the I-J has learned involve plane fares for a relative.

"His checks have been deducted every month," Simmons said.

He went on to say that a former employee, Al Edmund, has about $1,000 in outstanding bills, but the agency is holding Edmund's final paycheck. Whether that check covers the total bill was not disclosed.

Other exceptions noted by the auditors involve transfer of funds between accounts but appear to be explainable, Simmons said.

"By the time this is finished, they (federal government) may wind up owing us money," Lomax added.

Simmons said, however, that future federal funding will be held up until a certified public accountant "comes in and OK's the accounting system and internal control."

Meanwhile, a spokesman for Financial System of Oakland, a firm hired to put the agency's records in shape for the federal audit and to analyze bookkeeping problems, said his job remains unfinished.

Lomax, seated in the audience and wearing a red windbreaker instead of his usual dark suit, objected to the procedure maintaining he had "a right" to witness the voting.

After a complicated series of motions, the board agreed to stage the secret ballot supported by board member Kelly Fister, who told the I-J last night she is withdrawing from the race for a seat on the board of supervisors (Fourth District) so as to devote more time to the EOC.

Following the vote, the board directed the personnel committee to begin the recruitment of a new executive director.

Dixie Faces A Surplus Of Teachers

Dixie School District faces a potential surplus of 10 teachers for the 1972-73 school year, Supt. Clifford W. Campbell warned the district's trustees last night.

"There has been no turnover" among the district's almost 200 certificated teachers and the district expects a sharp enrollment drop next fall, he explained.

"All the districts in Marin County face the same problem," he said. State law requires districts to notify potentially surplus teachers by March 15 that they may not be hired for next year, he explained.

Campbell said only four teachers had revealed plans to retire or resign, three have taken leave — and 10 are due back from leave.

The board agreed with Campbell's recommendation that "we sweat it out" and postpone until May the decision whether to draw lots as to which teachers may lose their jobs.

The Dixie School District board also:

AMPHITEHATER — Called for bids on construction of an outdoor amphitheater at Lucas Valley School to seat 385 pupils, at a cost of not more than $11,000. Parent David Paoli donated his service to design the outdoor auditorium and will oversee its construction, Campbell said.

HIRINGS — Employed Christine Lewis as a teacher assistant at Mary E. Silveira School, three hours daily, for $936 through June; Kenneth Regalia as custodian-helper two hours daily for $606 through June and Michael McGirr as deliverman two hours daily for a total of $541 through June.

HOLIDAYS — Approved a policy giving nonteaching employees 10 legal holidays plus the day after Thanksgiving, and empowered Campbell to dismiss staff early on Christmas Eve, New Year's Eve and Good Friday.

CALENDAR — Adopted a 176-day teaching schedule for 1972-73, with classes beginning either Sept. 11 or Sept. 12 (depending on the outcome of a bill to shift Admission Day to Sept. 11). After winter vacation Dec. 18 through Jan. 1 and spring vacation April 16 through 20, classes will end June 14.

INSURANCE — Heard insurance agent Clifford Lund report that the district is inadequately covered, and paying $22,753 a year in premiums.

EVALUATION — Approved the Dixie Teachers Association as the agent for setting policy on teacher evaluations as required by the Stuhl Bill.

tion of more than 13,000 in 2.5 square miles or a density of 4,830 square miles, second highest in Marin County with only Belvedere higher.

The discussion developed the consensus that San Anselmo is one of the most, if not the most diversified community in the county, has a good ratio of older residents, young residents, and families in all income brackets.

Panelist Dolly Frauens, a housewife, said she thought the city should legalize the second house if it meets building code requirements because they met the need for low income housing. This was needed by the young married couples and elderly.

An elderly man in the back of the room said that he had helped San Anselmo get its single-family zone and that the city ought to abate all of the nonconforming uses in that zone. This drew some applause from older residents.

Ruth Friedlander, a member of the Marin County planning staff, asked where evicted residents of these second houses would go. She said that in Marin County there are 292 units in Marin City, 56 in Hilarita Housing, 200 units for the elderly in various projects and 241 leased housing units.

"Where will these people go?" she asked.

City Councilman Warren R. Perry asked that all those interested in the housing and zoning in the city join the open committee which the council formed Tuesday night to advise it on housing needs.

"We sit at council meetings night after night and have never had the interest shown in the nonconforming houses and zoning as I have seen here tonight," he said.

Two other meetings are scheduled in the 1972 series of Town Meetings, both to be held at 8 p.m. in the Red Hill School library.

Candidates' Nights Scheduled

The Congregational Fellowship of Novato will present a series of town meeting forums featuring candidates for the Novato City Council starting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Fellowship Room, 864 Grant Avenue.

Rev. John H. Telfer, fellowship minister, said the format will give candidates time to give their views and debate among themselves.

With 11 candidates, this isn't possible at the usual candidates night meeting, he said.

Candidates have been scheduled to appear, three at a time, with John C. Schoonover, Carlos M. Newton and David Price Jones set for tomorrow's forum.

John N. Morrison, Dorothy Young and Fred F. Ruegg are to appear March 17 and Geoffrey (Jeff) Bywater Jr., Edward T. Ryken and Daniel P. Donovan on March 24.

Anthony M. Gullotta is tentatively scheduled to appeal April 7. Donald Richards has declined to participate, Telfer said.

After the council election, the forum will continue with programs on local issues, he said.

Quake Research Funding Urged

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, has called for speedy action on legislation to increase research aimed at predicting earthquakes.

His own state, Moss told the Senate Wednesday, has a long history of quakes and averages at least one a year.

Moss is a cosponsor of a bill introduced by Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., to provide more funds to the Geological Survey to help develop an earthquake warning system.

Mill Valley Flood Unit — Fatter Budget

A fiscal 1972-73 budget of $319,500 that would require a tax rate of 26 cents per $100 assessed valuation was recommended for adoption last night by the Mill Valley Flood Control Zone Advisory Board.

The proposed budget now goes to the Marin County board of supervisors.

Charles E. Murphy, county flood control engineer, said the planned spending program includes $180,000 for acquisition of right-of-way and construction of a Scott Valley drainage bypass and $100,000 for maintenance dredging of Coyote Creek.

The present district budget is $318,300, with a 17.5-cent tax rate. The expected 8.5-cent jump in the tax rate is largely due to a smaller starting balance of carryover money than this year, according to Murphy.

Murphy said staff originally had proposed a $414,000 spending program for next fiscal year, but the advisory board deferred $100,000 appropriated for a bypass at Alto School and deleted a planned reserve of $34,500.

Of the new budget, $195,600 would have to be raised from property taxes. The remainder is to be carrygver from the current fiscal year.

The board also recommended adoption of a drainage master plan for the Alto area that includes the Scott Valley and Alto School projects, as well as construction of the Patricia Lane box culvert — a project already completed.

Murphy said the board also renewed appeals to the board of supervisors that local flood control zones be permitted to use interest earned on accumulated funds. Supervisors have said interest from the first $100,000 accumulated is needed for the county's administrative expenses.

Youth, 20, Is Charged In Stables Area Blazes

An investigation by sheriff's inspectors Marco Melovich and William Donovan led to the arrest, earlier today, of Peter Charles Locati Jr. of 126 Van Tassell Drive.

Sheriff's officers said, in an affadavit that fingerprints found on a container in a room where the fire started have been identified as Locati's.

He lives about three blocks away from the scene of the fire at the end of Petrina Lane.

Locati is accused of two felony counts of arson stemming from the same fire, one of setting fire to a building and one count of arson at an unoccupied dwelling.

The blaze was believed caused by an inflammable liquid poured over the floor, according to San Anselmo firemen who put out the fire. Damage was estimated at $10,000.

The Feb. 12 fire was only one in a series of such incidents plaguing the area of the Sleepy Hollow Stables.

Early Sunday morning another house which had just been completed by Eichler Construction Corp. was apparently also set on fire. This blaze did about $30,000 damage.

Last Nov. 8 a fire that burned about $1,500 worth of lumber and property on Butterfield Road was thought to have been started with a homemade bomb.

Offer To Settle

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—North American Rockwell Corp. has agreed to pay the estate and sons of astronaut Virgil I. "Gus" Grissom $350,000 to settle out of court three suits stemming from the Apollo spacecraft fire that killed Grissom and two fellow spacemen, an attorney said today.

Planes Raid Guerrillas In Lebanon

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israeli planes raided a guerrilla encampment seven miles inside Lebanon today following a rocket attack against one of its border settlements, a military spokesman announced in Tel Aviv.

The spokesman said pilots reported several hits by their bombs on guerrilla buildings and tents near Kafr Assait village in the region known as Fatahland after the Al Fatah guerrilla group.

The spokesman said all planes returned safely.

The raid was part of Israel's "no nonsense" policy of reprisal against guerrillas striking into Israel and followed a rocket attack this morning against the Israeli frontier settlement of Bar Am, the second village to come under fire from Lebanon since a four-day armored sweep into Fatahland ended 11 days ago.

Israeli gunners also fired into Southern Lebanon before the planes struck.

A military spokesman in Tel Aviv said Israeli gunners opened up after 130mm Russian-made Katyusha rockets rained on the Israel settlement of Bar Am from the Lebanese side of the border. The rockets —a type favored by Arab guerrillas—caused no damage, the spokesman said.

It was only the second such attack on Israeli settlements since an Israeli armored force made a four-day strike into southern Lebanon 13 days ago.

Sanitation Area Fees Under Study

Tiburon Sanitary District crews soon will begin to evaluate commerical buildings to determine charges under a sewage fee ordinance passed by the board.

Single-family dwelling fee will be $12 per year, but commercial fees will vary with the number of "fixtures" — washbasins, toilets, sinks, dishwashers, washing machines and other contributors to waste.

The ordinance is expected to raise $50,000 per year, according to district secretary Robert Sterling, because of more stringent state water pollution standards. The district must spend about $90,000 more per year than it had to process sewage, he said.

The $40,000 difference must come from economies and from cutbacks in other district programs, he said. At present, the district is financed by a tax rate of 62 cents per hundred dollars assessed valuation.

Hearing Is Set On Stolen Property

A preliminary hearing has been set for March 28 in Marin Municipal Court for Nancy Lee Gray, 38, of San Rafael, who is accused of receiving stolen property.

Mrs. Gray is accused of selling stolen nightgowns at a San Rafael shop. The lingerie is believed, police said, of having been stolen from Dreamway Inc. Warehouse.

CALLING ALL CAMERA FANS
By Ken Reichard

SHOOTING FOR THE DECISIVE MOMENT

Everyone has heard or used the admonition to "Smile" or "Say Cheese" just before a camera shutter snaps. Object: to capture that smile at the moment it appears, before it has a chance to grow fixed or to "freeze."

This brings up the matter of photographic timing. Often the art of taking great pictures means shooting at just the right moment. That may be a psychological moment, when something special happens, or the moment when just the right expression (like that smile) appears.

Timing often takes other conditions into account, such as subject motion, speed, distance, or the presence of unwanted objects or persons within the picture frame. The first step toward the right timing is to be ready, conscious of the need to snap the shutter at what famed photographer Cartier-Bresson calls "the decisive moment."

Decisions, decisions — they can baffle the camera buyer, too, with so much to know, so many models to choose from. We can steer you through the maze toward the right camera for your needs — at the right price. Come in and talk it over.

Genes Linked To Body Immunity

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)—Genes—the tiny units of the body's chromosomes which transmit hereditary characteristics—may also regulate the body's immunity to disease.

Scientists at Stanford and Harvard universities have discovered a new class of genes, which reacts against invading viruses and bacteria and help the body develop immunity.

The lack of an immune response gene could make some people genetically prone to certain diseases—including cancer.

Ten of the regulatory genes were identified by researchers from the two universities and summarized in Science magazine Wednesday by Dr. Hugh O. McDevitt of Stanford University Medical School and Dr. Baruj Benacerraf of Harvard Medical School. Twenty similar genes were found by other scientists.

Growing associations between heredity and certain diseases has sparked an increased interest in the immune response genes, the scientists said.

McDevitt said there may be a relationship between rejection-triggering antigens — foreign proteins like viruses and bacteria—and certain types of cancer and other disease.

However, the effect of the antigen to such ailments as Hodgkins Disease, acute lymphocytic leukemia and a rare rheumatic disorder, Systemic Lupus Erythematosus, was unknown, the doctor said.

"There is evidence suggesting that specific genes may be one of several factors affecting susceptibility to cancer in both animals and man," said McDevitt, head of Stanford's immunology division.

The scientists said experiments with mice and guinea pigs showed that animals without one of the regulatory genes were deficient in their antibody reaction and failed to become immune against specific foreign viruses and bacteria. Those with the gene reacted vigorously to produce an antibody and develop immunity.

Architectural Plans Approved

Final architectural plans for 156 units of the Shelter Ridge Apartment development have been approved by the Mill Valley Architectural Advisory Committee, according to Evelyn B. McCrary, planning department secretary.

The committee, at its Tuesday meeting, approved plans for units located on Seaver Drive, she said. Final plans for landscaping and sidewalks must still be reviewed by the advisory group.

In other business, committee approved six temporary signs for Survival Inc., a recycling depot at Tamalpais High School.

Deputy Dies In Mistaken Identity Raid

DETROIT (UPI)—A Wayne County sheriff's deputy was killed and two others seriously wounded today in a five-minute gun battle with Detroit plainclothes policemen who stormed an apartment where the deputies were playing cards.

The heads of both departments called the shoot-out a "tragic mix-up."

The Detroit policemen were members of the controversial decoy unit called STRESS, an acronym for "Stop the Robberies—Enjoy Safe Streets."

Detroit Police Commissioner John Nichols and Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas said they were uncertain what precipitated the shoot-out but it appeared to be a case of miftaken identity and intentions.

The police said they followed a man into the apartment when they saw him cross an alley with what appeared to be a gun. Lucas said the five sheriff's patrolmen and a civilian were playing cards.

Nichols and Lucas, trying to piece the incident together, said it appeared the sheriff's deputies thought they were being robbed and the police STRESS officers thought the deputies were trying to resist arrest.

Eight GIs Wounded By Red Booby Trap

SAIGON (UPI)—An American security patrol tripped a guerrilla booby trap near Da Nang Wednesday, wounding eight soldiers, the U.S. command said today. Two U.S. jets were downed in separate incidents and two pilots were reported missing.

In other action in the widening air war, U.S. Phantom F4s made three "protective reaction" strikes against Communist antiaircraft sites, all of them strafing runs by the fighter-bombers after Communist gunners opened fire on unarmed reconnaissance aircrafts.

The two downed planes were a Navy A4 Skyhawk, which crashed after the pilot reported mechanical problems, and an Air Force F4 shot down by Communist ground fire on a bombing mission in the Laotian panhandle.

The A4 went down near Da Nang and the pilot was rescued by an Air Force helicopter.

The F4 was shot down Tuesday but it was not reported until later to give rescuers a chance to try to find the two crewmembers.

One of the incidents occurred 40 miles north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) between North and South Vietnam and the other two were within one mile of each other inside the six-mile-wide buffer zone.

A command spokesman said the raids brought the total so far this year to 90, compared to 108 in the entire year of 1971.

The eight Americans wounded by the booby trap were hurt near Da Nang, 370 miles north of Saigon. They were all members of the 196th Infantry Brigade—originally part of the 23rd Infantry (Americal) Division until that outfit was disbanded last November.

It was the worst American casualty toll in a single ground action since Feb. 25 when one American was killed and 21 wounded 42 miles east of Saigon.

In the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. today a total of 61 persons were killed and wounded on both sides, including 41 guerrillas and four South Vietnamese soldiers killed, and eight South Vietnamese and eight Americans wounded.

Five American soldiers were killed in action last week, the U.S. command said, and 38 were wounded. It was the 22nd straight week U. S. battle deaths have numbered fewer than 10. U.S. deaths so far this year total 84.

A total of 45,661 Americans have been killed in action in 11 years of Indochina warfare.

Happy Occasion For San Anselmo Boy

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A crippled 6-year-old San Anselmo boy entered the Senate chambers on his own power yesterday and thanked the legislators for aiding the Easter Seal campaign.

"Thank you from me for helping us get money for Easter Seals," Eric Staley softly told the senators.

Escorted by Gov. Ronald Reagan, Eric — the 1972 California Easter Seal Child —moved slowly but surely up the aisle on crutches to deliver his message.

He is disabled by a congenital deformity of the lower limbs and represents more than 50,000 crippled Californians receiving Easter Seal aid.

Eric, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Staley, of 28 Merced Avenue, is a first year student at the Marindale School for Orthopaedically Handicapped.

His parents were with him during the ceremony, and Sen. Peter Behr, R-San Rafael, presented the family with a resolution unanimously adopted by the Senate, which commended Eric's "courage" and designated Feb. 28-April 2 as Easter Seal Month in California.

William Franklin Oliver, 42, of 3562 Redwood Highway, San Rafael, arrested Feb. 28 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $250.

Theologian Hits Pope's Leadership

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Father Hans Kung, the Swiss theologian who has been in the forefront of the Roman Catholic church's progressive wing, said today Pope Paul VI is not providing the church with spiritual leadership.

Kung, in an interview published in the March edition of Intellectual Digest, said that at the beginning of Pope Paul's reign the church had "probably the greatest credibility the Catholic church has enjoyed in the past 500 years.

"Now we are toward the end of his pontificate, I think, and the church's credibility is so low that we cannot imagine how this happened," Kung said.

Kung said the Pope's election caused "disappointment" because Paul turned out to be "very conservative on all the issues on which the Catholic Church itself would have to change".

"He remained progressive in matters of peace and justice, in all problems relating to the third world, in human rights—but was not very strong for those same human rights within the church, or for change in doctrine, or for actions that would affect the hierarchy," Kung said.

At the same time, however, Kung criticized his own progressive wing of the church for having "A certain, well, laziness and inefficiency" in pursuing reform.

20 Teachers Face Loss Of Positions

San Anselmo School District may have to drop as many as 20 teachers next school year.

Supt. Ivan D. Chappell said the district "was most confident this will not be the number cut," but it was the number settled on for possible termination by the school district board at a meeting Tuesday.

Chappell said any teachers who may be let go must be notified, according to state law, by March 15 that they may be subject to release at the end of the current school year.

Teachers notified will be those with the least seniority, Chappell said.

He noted that the district last year notified 13 teachers of possible termination, but in the end the district dismissed none of them.

Petaluma Sports Area Wins Approval

Plans for a sports complex at a new Sonoma County Park were approved last night by the Petaluma Recreation, Music and Parks Commission.

Commission secretary Phyllis Brewer said the commission approved the plan proposed by County Parks Director Joseph Rodota for the 20-acre park adjacent to the city boat launching ramp on Petaluma River.

The plan includes three baseball diamonds, two multiuse fields that could accommodate soccer and other sports, as well as parking and restroom facilities. Rodota said the major expenditure would be grading and improving drainage and would consume most of the $25,000 appropriated by the county.

He said he would request another $25,000 be budgeted for the next fiscal year to develop the park. The commission said it would recommend the city council agree to have the city maintain the park.

Sonoma Supervisor Philip L. Joerger recommended the park be dedicated in honor of Richard W. Shollenberger, Petaluma's park director who died last month.

The commission approved also the Petaluma Swim Club's request for use of the swimming pool for several meets this summer.

No Longer Town

BINGHAM CANYON, Utah (UPI) —This tiny community, once a booming mine town, voted itself out of existence in the 1971 election. There were only 12 registered voters left and too few taxpayers to support the cost of city government so they voted to disincorporate. Bingham Canyon is the site of the world's largest open pit copper mine.

Annexation Delayed By Water District

Directors of the Marin Municipal Water District postponed action yesterday on a proposal to annex its Nicasio Reservoir after learning that the Nicasio School District had not been notified of the annexation hearing before the Local Agency Formation Commission.

The board passed a resolution asking LAFCO to hold a rehearing on the proposal which it had approved last month.

Nicasio School board president Wilfred Lafranchi and trustee representative Harold A. Drady complained the district would lose approximately $1,000 of its total annual revenues of $15,000 if the 1,500 acres are annexed.

The water district would save about $10,000 in annual taxes paid to the county and state, part of which goes to the school district.

The Marin Municipal Water District also:

SHORTAGE — Heard a report on what measures the district would have to take if a water shortage occurs and some reservoirs dry up. The board asked for specific proposals on what construction would be needed to bypass empty reservoirs and still provide water to the entire district.

VINEYARDS — Agreed, when and if surplus water is available, to provide approximately one million gallons of water a year for frost protection for nine acres of vineyards on Quail Hill in Terra Linda. Owner James Marisco said the water service would be needed about 15-20 days a year for approximately three hours a day.

LEGAL SERVICES — Voted to pay $4,000 to attorney Robert W. Elliott for legal services in connection with Improvement District A.

APPRAISAL — Authorized payment of $1,050 to Edward Morphy for an appraisal of the Elinor Avenue tank site in Mill Valley.

FILTER PLANT — Learned from manager of engineering J. Dietrich Stroeh that the proposed San Geronimo filter plant expansion is now estimated to cost $1.7 million instead of the $1.3 million originally budgeted for the work, with the chief increase due to modifications in design. The board asked its staff to prepare bid specifications for the project containing $400,000 worth of items which could be deducted from the project.

EEL RIVER — Voted to ask the board of supervisors to include three representatives from the water district among the county's five representatives to the Eel River Council because most of the county's dues to the council is paid by the water district which now has only one representative.

EMPLOYMENT — Agreed to hire Robert J. Joy as a junior construction inspector at $793 a month and authorized the district's construction and maintenance department to fill five vacancies.

WAGE STRUCTURE — With a minimum of discussion, adopted a study of the district's wage and salary classification system prepared by San Francisco management consultants Cresap, McCormick and Paget. The study recommends a revised salary structure, along with suggested policies for administration of the salary program. Most significant is a recommendation that all salary increases for the 208 employees be based solely on merit rather than as annual general cost of living increases.

Corte Maderans Prove City Hall Will Listen

Last Sept. 16, two houses in East Corte Madera were destroyed and a third badly damaged by fire.

This week, the Corte Madera Town Council voted to add six men to the fire department.

There is a clear and easily traced cause-and-effect relationship between the two events. And it proves that, despite the old saw, "You cant fight City Hall, local public officials will listen if citizens present a case well bolstered by evidence.

THE DESTRUCTION of the houses on Constitution Drive in Corte Madera last September was blamed in part on the delay in fire trucks reaching the scene. And this delay was blamed on the fact that the East Corte Madera fire station, close by, was unmanned, and men and equipment hd to respond from the main fire station on the other side of Highway 101.

Corte Madera had built a second firehouse expressly to provide protection for new homes in the newly built-up area east of the highway. But it had never budgeted money to hire firemen to man it.

Probably many of the residents of East Corte Madera did not realize this — until the disastrous blaze on Constitution Drive. They awoke to the fact that they had been living in a false sense of security. And they reacted as would be expected — angrily.

The town council reacted as could be expected, too — defensively. But it did not react merely negatively. It hired two consultants to survey the towns fire protection, and appointed a committee including leaders of complaining East Corte Madera homeowner groups.

THE RESULTING investigations brought several things to light: That Corte Madera depended almost entirely on volunteers to fight fires at certain times of day; that a truck in the branch firehouse could not be rolled to the scene for lack of qualified operators; that the training of volunteers and the method of their selection have both been deficient.

The consultants pointed out a lot of needs, including more equipment. They called the East Corte Madera firehouse useless, too small and improperly located.

The council-appointed committee zeroed in on the need for around-the-clock protection by paid firemen. It presented its report this week, calling for three more firemen at once and another three in July. And the council voted to add this manpower.

THE EAST Corte Maderans did not get what they started out to get — at least, not yet. The six men will all be added at the central station. The branch station will remain unmanned — an expensive monument to mis-spent funds.

But fire protection will be improved for all of Corte Madera. So the East Corte Maderans have won a victory — for the town as a whole. Also, they have opened the eyes of all residents to both the need for better fire protection and its cost.

Further, they and the Corte Madera Town Council have proved that City Hall will listen.

Grass Carp

Will Corte Madera Creek and Paper Mill Creek one day be the home of the grass carp? This immigrant from China is being introduced to U.S. waters after decades of hesitation.

Unlike most carp, the grass carp is not a scavenger of the bottom muck. It lives on underwater grasses in streams and ponds. A better-than-average game fish, it leaps and gives the angler a good fight.

In the Far East, grass carp is regarded as among the finest cooking fishes. Grass carp soup is one of the great dishes of Chinese cuisine. The story in Hong Kong used to be that Red China had a monopoly on grass carp and would export only the male fry to be raised in the colony's extensive ponds.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Logical Next Step, Rev., Might Be State Religion

By RUS WALTON

It was one of those half-hour television talk shows — the Sunday afternoon variety, the kind where three or four guests question an expert on some topic of burning public concern.

This time it was three members of the cloth throwing questions about health and medical care at Assemblyman William Campbell R-Hacienda Heights. Campbell is chairman of the Assembly Health Committee.

For 30 minutes the quartet sat there in a circle, squooshed into those damnable form-fitting, uni-legged plastic chairs.

THE CLERGY SEEMED a bit upset that Campbell's bill would involve the private health insurance carriers as much as possible. They were disturbed that the legislation would not establish a new government bureaucracy under the guise of providing a service for the people.

"Don't you feel, "pontificated one of the good reverends, "that there is something immoral about making a profit from a person's illness?"

Campbell made a well-turned and gentlemanly argument that each man is worthy of his hire.

So, the discussion went on and got into the area of health care for the general public.

ONE OR TWO of the clergymen began — subtly, of course — to promote a state-controlled and state-operated health care service. Straight-out socialized medicine.

They either couldn't or wouldn't accept Campbell's caution that the state shouldn't practice medicine; that adroitness with red tape and regulations hardly earned a proficiency at delicate surgery, or even general practice; that it made for better medical care to have more than a monolithic system of doctors and nurses and hospitals; that patients should, whenever possible, be free to choose their own physician, and their own hospital.

"Don't you think," intoned the good reverend, "don't you think the state should be responsible for the physical health of its people?"

Campbell's answer was again polite, logical and definite. "No."

BUT IT DIDN'T bite back and I found myself staring at the tube, begging him to answer in kind:

"Don't you think, reverend — don't you think the state should be responsible for the spiritual health of its people? I mean, if you're going to have state doctors, why not state ministers?

"If you are going to advocate state medicine, why not state religion, too?"

TODAY'S WORLD

"Hi, Harry! I'd like you to meet June, my wife and former sweetheart."

"The defendant is aware, of course, that he is guilty until proved innocent!"

Marker To Note Historical Site

In "Editor's Notebook" dated Nov. 13, 1971, you wrote, "Larkspur Street Job Obliterates History." This interested me very much and as I am president of the Larkspur-Corte Madera Historical Society I suggested to our membership that we take this on as a project and erect a suitable marker.

Last Wednesday I appeared before the city council and got the go-ahead for a marker to be placed on Doherty Drive near the sidewalk. I have appointed a committee of seven people, two of them to research the history so we can decide just what to say on the bronze marker. . .

Taxpayers Fed Up With Office Holders

Those of us who supported the Jarvis Amendment and the Watson Amendment have been expecting the scare editorials to start, so yours of Feb. 28 was no surprise. These editorials, plus panic-stricken politicians, stampeded many voters to vote against Proposition 9 a few years ago. However, this time around the voters are taking a second look at property taxes.

We have been promised property tax reform for the past 10 or more years, without any results except higher taxes. The people we elected are no longer representatives of the people who pay them, but fat cat politicians. Witness the fact that several points of the so-called welfare reform have already been overturned by the courts. Also, they cannot even reapportion their own districts within the state. Of course, we are all too familiar with the atrocity which they brazenly palm off onto us as a "budget." These same politicians apparently have no thought of the taxpayer other than, "How can we gouge them for more?"

It may be that the Jarvis Amendment or the Watson Amendment is not the final or perfect answer to our dilemma, but it is a start in the right direction. First, it alerts the politicians that we can, and will if necessary, take the property taxing privilege from them and put it into our own hands. Further, the scare tactics of the politicians and the editors of the media don't scare the people like they once did. The people are fed up with high taxes! Still further, and most important — either of the above amendments would put a limit on what the property owner can be taxed. This little tidbit of information was notably absent from your editorial of Feb. 28 . . .

Some Considerations Favoring Ferries

Several commentf come to mind with regard to your editorial of Feb. 16. First of all, the cost of depreciation with regard to buses and ferry boats are certainly different. According to one bridge director, buses must be replaced every eight years, ferries every 40 years, so the relative costs of handling passengers by these modes of travel should be considered.

Secondly, apart from thinking in terms of numbers of persons traveling, we have to think in terms of numbers of ways to travel. The best form of insurance the bridge board could have developed is an alternate to the bridge. . .

I think perspectives in time have to be taken into consideration. A few years ago the highway was king and all taxes and funds were poured into building and maintaining more highways — thinking in this area is slowly changing and an increasingly aware public is insisting on less highways (and less pollution thereby). It is conceivable that some of the monies heretofore used for highways (does each mile of freeway really cost $40 million?) can be diverted in the future to assisting communities developing mass transit to pay for depreciation of equipment such as buses and ferries.

There are two basic costs to mass transit — that of original (and periodic replacement) cost of equipment, and that of day-to-day operating. If fares are to remain low enough to attract large numbers of commuters, it is possible that operating costs might be maintained without too high a subsidy. . .

Another Invasion Of Personal Freedom

Congratulation I.J., you've picked up a subtle, yet very important loss of American freedom. I'm referring to your "Secret Banking Regulation" which quite frankly is not very secret: that is, it was published in the Investment Bulletin by the American Institute for Economic Research on July 5, 1971! Specifically, Public Law 91-508 evaporates the freedom of putting one's funds where one wishes without government surveillance. That is, the law states, currency or monetary transfers exceeding $5000 on any one occasion from the United States must be reported (to the government) and each currency or monetary transfer of more than $1000 to persons, accounts or places outside the United States must be filmed or copied and retained (by the bank). . .

It has been thought by some that the IRS had the job of collecting taxes. Not so any longer, with Public Law 91-508 the IRS has been given the license to snoop around and gather information for the government. Another subtle, insidious loss of an American freedom, the loss of privacy! called invasion of privacy.

It should be mentioned that at this time it is not unlawful or improper to transfer funds in, out or around the United States. The new regulations do not prohibit such transfers. The government therefore is not seeking violators, only information that should "have a high degree of usefulness in criminal, tax or regulatory investigations or pro eedings." This statement by the government has little meaning. It is a facade, a misrepresentation of the truth and should be considered with the same significance that one used when hearing recent government statements as, "we will never have peacetime wage-price controls," "we have no plans for devaluing the dollar," "we could never terminate our agreement to honor dollars for gold." . . .

In 1947, one of the longest strikes in American history ended after 440 days when the United Auto Workers came to terms with the Case Manufacturing Co. in Racine, Wis.

In 1967 Russian communist dictator Josef Stalin's daughter Svetlana defected to the United States.

New Hampshire Shows How Spoilers Handicap Democrats

WASHINGTON — New Hampshire 1968 and New Hampshire 1972 are worlds apart. Four years ago Eugene McCarthy could take a clear-cut line opposing the war in Vietnam that Lyndon Johnson had escalated to a point where more than a half-million American ground troops were engaged. Vietnamization having brought the number down to 119,600, the issue this time was far from being the simple, "Are you for the war or are you against it?"

So complex, so spun around with the Nixon rhetoric and the Nixon promises, the Vietnam issue baffled the Democratic challengers. The administration is vulnerable and, above all, vulnerable on the fundamental point of negotiation. The president's eight-point proposal offers no real basis for ending the war at the conference table.

If only because of the call for a cease-fire, Hanoi was bound to reject it. A cease-fire, as defined in the president's proposal, would have put the Communists in the areas they hold at the mercy of the South Vietnamese forces. Point after point contained built-in specifications long since unacceptable to the Nrth Vietnamese. The plain, unadulterated truth is that there is no negotiating position and no likelihood in the near future of negotiation.

BUT EVEN George McGovern, a serious antiwar candidate, could not get a grip on it. The jamboree in the shopping centers and on television hardly lent itself to serious discussion. If there was a searching examination of the underlying issue of Vietnam and the American entanglement, it went unreported.

The media has a lot to answer for in the New Hampshire dust-up. The jokers — Sam Yorty, the wandering mayor of Los Angeles as the No. 1 example — were treated as though they were serious candidates with a real chance for the nomination. Needless to say, they were looking merely for exposure on the tube and in the news columns.

This handicapped the serious candidates, and conspicuously Sen. Edmund Muskie. As he was the front runner with a wide range of endorsements up to the New Hampshire primary, the goal of one and all was to cut him down. McGovern's objective was to establish that he was against the war in Vietnam while Muskie was still, as Hubert Humphrey's vice-presidential candidate, backing the Johnson escalation.

That is part of the effort to prove that a center nominee will not do and that only a McGovern can rally the minorities essential to the election of a Democrat. It is a splintering process certain to open the way to a bruising, self-defeating battle royal at the Miami Beach convention. McGovern's claim must rest on his showing in a half-dozen primaries still to come.

AND NOW for Florida. Gov. George Wallace of Alabama is rated in all the polls as the winner who will emerge with perhaps 25 per cent of the vote in the Democratic primary. Here again is a so-called candidate with no chance to get the nomination. As a spoiler he has a golden opportunity to damage the serious candidates, and with his exploitation of the busing issue he is doing just that.

Reports persist here, thus far without confirmation, that the Nixon administration has made a deal with Wallace that will insure against his running on a third-party ticket in November, for which certain prosecutions in Alabama will be called off. Wallace will be satisfied to be king maker and happy to keep the campaign contributions that roll in to Little Caesar.

In 1968 Wallace carried five southern states with 46 electoral votes. With no Wallace ticket, the Nixon directorate, following the southern strategy, would presumably pick up that nest egg. Even more important are the voters who went for Wallace in the border states. His total in Florida, which Nixon carried by a margin of about 200,000, was 624,207. Nixon carried Kentucky with fewer than 75,000 votes while Wallace scored 193,098. The totals in Tennessee were even more impressive, with Nixon carrying the state with 472,592 to 351,233 for Humphrey while Wallace polled 424,792.

The votes cast for Wallace in '68 may not all go for President Nixon in 1972. The economic issue may work against that. But even with a half-and-half split, the Nixon ticket would gain heavily. The evidence increases that the spoilers can decide the election.

Soviet Union's Minorities Grow More Restless — With China's Help

The tribes are restless these days along the western marches of Russia's empire and the men of Moscow are obviously kept busy trying to keep on top of it all.

Their troubles are both inside and outside of their official frontiers. Understandably, they are pursuing a tougher policy against dissidents inside than against deviationists outside. But they are busy both inside and outside trying to damp down the restlessness which seems to have sprung up since the day Richard Nixon let out the fact that he himself would go to China.

The latest move has been a surprise softening of attitude toward the government in Romania. But while trying to placate that restless client of empire by kindness, the opposite technique of arrest and repression is being applied to the Ukraine, Lithuania, nd Latvia, where even good local Communists seem to be remembering that they were not always ruled by Moscow.

THE CHINESE ARE, of course, not aloof from this restlessness on the far side of their Russian neighbor. If the Russians want to deploy soldiers and guns against them in the heart of Asia, they can deploy propaganda and dissent against Russia on the far western flank. It is a matter of pressure and counter-pressure, and the Chinese are deep in the counter-pressure business right now.

One form reportedly is the financing of Ukrainian nationalist literature put out by Ukrainian emigres in Western Europe and Canada and smuggled into the Soviet Ukraine. There seems to be a steady flow of such material which the Russians are unable to prevent.

One result has been a wave of arrest of intellectuals in the Ukraine paralleling what happened earlier in Russia itself.

Another Chinese move has been to resume relations with Spanish Communists who are themselves in close relations with the official Communist parties of Romania and Italy. The Romanians seem to have arranged a visit to Peking last December by a delegation of Spanish Communists which established a sort of state of co-existence between the two Communist clans.

Thus Peking is now playing a more active role among the old and established Communist parties in Western Europe instead of fighting them with splinter Maoist parties. And the net effect seems to be to reduce Moscow's authority over the older parties.

RUSSIA HAS ALWAYS had a "minorities" problem from the day the czars began conquering neighboring countries and peoples. These conquered tribes are passive in periods when Moscow is strong and pushing outward. They become restless when there is external pressure on Russia which gives them room for maneuver.

Perhaps most interesting in the news about such matters of recent days is the sudden reversal of Moscow's attitude toward Romania.

Right up through last December Moscow was glowering at Bucharest and continued to talk and act as though it might some day do there what it did not so long ago to Czechoslovakia. The tanks were ready enough, just on the other side of the Romanian frontier.

But of recent days, the cold frown has been replaced by the benign smile. Just why, is a Kremlin secret. But it is a reasonable surmise that doing to Romania now what was done to Czechoslovakia in 1968 would be "counter productive" from a Russian point of view. It could perfectly well cause most European Communists to turn in revulsion from Moscow and join up with Peking. It would also rouse now largely dormant fears of Russia among West European countries.

It is just not sensible to wait for each oncoming generation to invent the wheel or discover Hamlet or figure out for itself the mysteries of German grammar. Buchwald Unveils The ITT Papers: How That Gift Really Happened

WASHINGTON — The ITT-Kleindienst $400,000 misunderstanding has many tragic consequences. One is that the motives of one of the great conglomerates of this country are being questioned. There are certain skeptics who believe that ITT would never have offered $400,000 to finance the Republican convention in San Diego if the Justice Department hadn't agreed to let the conglomerate hold on to one of its prize possessions, the Hartford Fire Insurance Co.

I can state without qualification that this is not the case. The decision to donate $400,000 to the Republican National Convention was made in good faith by men who felt strongly about preserving the two-party system. This is what happened:

THE REPUBLICAN Party wanted a national convention very badly, but had no money to hold it. So, they went to the ITT people and asked, "Is there any possibility of donating any cash to the Republican convention?"

The ITT people replied, "We would love to contribute to the Republican National Convention, but we have an antitrust suit pending with the Justice Department, and if we gave, say, $100,000, it might look as though we were trying to influence the administration to make a decision in our favor."

"Don't worry about that," the Republicans said. "No one will know you gave the money except President Nixon, Atty. Gen. John Mitchell and H.R. Haldeman in the White House."

"But," said the ITT people, "suppose Jack Anderson finds out about it? He has such a suspicious mind that he could come to the wrong conclusion as to why we would want to contribute $200,000 to the Republican National Convention. He might say that the reason we did it was so that we could hold on to the Hartford Fire Insurance Co., which the Justice Department so unfairly wants us to divest from our conglomerate."

"YOU HAVE NOTHING to worry about Jack Anderson will never find out that you have contributed a dime to our convention in order to hold on to the Hartford Fire Isurance Co. — how do you spell that?"

"H-a-r-t-f-o-r-d. Our company believes its antitrust suits should be judged on the merits of the case alone. If we contributed $250,000 to the convention, the Senate Judiciary Committee might call hearings to find out whether we did anything to influence Richard Kleindienst, who we understand will be the next attorney general.

"On the other hand, if we lost the Hartford Fire Insurance Co. because of the Mickey Mouse tactics of your antitrust lawyers, it would be very bad for the balance of payments of the United States, our stock would take a beating and it would have a serious effect on the economy.

"That is a very persuasive case you have presented. Why don't you lay it out to Kleindienst and ask him to help you? I'm sure he will because he won't know anything about your generous contribution to the Republican Party."

"How can we be sure? Even if we gave $300,000, which we're prepared to do, it would look as if the gift had something to do with the Justice Department suit."

"WE DON'T SEE how people could think such a thing. The reason we approached you is because everyone knows that ITT has no ax to grind. Your donation will be looked upon as an act of faith in the great American political system.

"Only those with evil minds and members of the Democratic Party would question your noble motives. But we assure you that neither President Nixon nor Attorney General Mitchell, not even Mrs. Mitchell, will look upon your generous gesture as anything other than a gift from a conglomerate with a heart of gold."

The ITT people nodded their heads. "Your words have touched us deeply. Here is $400,000 with absolutely no strings attached. By the way, before you go, could we interest you in some fire insurance?"

Hoax Message During Nixon's Visit To China

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—An enlisted man standing watch sent a hoax message to ships at sea during President Nixon's visit to China, saying the President had been assassinated and the vice president had declared World War III, the Coast Guard revealed Tuesday.

Authorities said the hoax message was not taken seriously and the man who sent it from a small Coast Guard station in Texas was confined and is undergoing medical evaluation.

The message, sent by teletype to 22 ships in the Gulf of Mexico, went out Feb. 27.

New S. Sonoma Phone Dialing Set

Bank Customer Protection Plan

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Banks could no longer seize a depositor's money without a court order under a bill that has been introduced in the Legislature.

Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan, D-Burlingame, said Tuesday that so-called "banker's liens" currently allow the confiscation of the savings and checkings accounts of any consumer who owes the institution money.

Ryan said the banks can now seize the money without a court order. His bill would abolish the banker's liens. Ryan said this would protect consumers from "surprise attacks" on their money.

New Marin Group Starts Film Survey

A new organization, Movie-Goers of Marin, has begun a drive to survey what films Marin residents would prefer to watch, then to persuade theater managers to show the films.

The MGM group has 23 members, according to spokesman Christopher Clemens of 8 Glen Drive, Mill Valley. He said the members will distribute questionnaires at shopping centers throughout Marin, tabulate the responses, then hold a series of public meetings later this month to discuss proposals. Time and place of the meetings will be announced later, Clemens said.

New Jobs For 4 School Principals

The Novato Unified School District board has reassigned four elementary school principals for 1972-73, part of the district's policy of rotating principals, according to Supt. James G. Bunker.

Marlowe Lancaster, principal at Lynwood School, will go to Lu Sutton School; George Evans from Pacheco to San Ramon School; Alfred Rivasplata from Lu Sutton to Pacheco School, and Donald Wineland from San Ramon to Lynwood.

Under policy, principals are rotated after four or five years at one school. "With some exceptions," Bunker said, "we have done it every year."

District trustees approved the reassignments Tuesday night.

The Novato Unified School District board also:

PERFORMANCE — Received a report from Edith Pewitt, administrative assistant, that of 475 sixth-graders with an average IQ, 199 were performing a year or more below their grade level, 123 were at grade level and 153 a year or more beyond grade level.

SUPPLIES — Granted 17 firms, low bidders, contracts for school supplies for 1972-73 at a cost of $23,107.

TRIP — Approved a trip to Hawaii by the 15-member special education class at Sinaloa Junior High School May 30 to June 5, with four chaperones. Expenses will be paid by the class through fund-raising events such as car washes.

TENURE — Granted tenure to 53 teachers who have completed three years of work.

SUMMER SCHOOL — Appointed Linda Field as elementary summer school director and William Stiveson as secondary summer school director.

NEW COURSES — Approved six new courses for the spring term of the adult evening high school, including a course in "auto know-how for women."

CENTERS — Received a report from coordinating librarian Margaret Todd on the operation of library-media centers at five elementary schools, which she said gave students an opportunity to produce their own learning materials.

EVALUATION — Received a request from the Novato American Federation of Teachers chapter that compliance with the Stull Act order to evaluate teachers by testing their students' progress be through putting that testing in the hands of teachers representatives.

MEETING — Adjourned until 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Novato High School lecture hall for another in a series of meetings to discuss educational goals.

Tax Hike Seen In Corte Madera

Corte Madera taxpayers face a tax increase of 43 cents per $100 assessed valuation next year if the fire department's 1972-73 budget is approved as proposed.

Fire Chief Frank L. Nelson is asking for $216,186 to run his department next year compared to $86,274 this year.

Town Treasurer Frank Bigley said yesterday the proposed budget contains $90,000 to pay six new firemen approved by the town council Monday plus $46,000 for a new truck capable of pumping 12,500 gallons an hour.

Since one penny on the tax rate brings in $3,000 in revenue, the fire department budget alone would raise the tax rate more than 40 cents from its present level of $1.03 per $100 assessed valuation, Bigley said.

Red Fox Dope Case Date Set

Lawrence David Lesser, 22, of Forest Knolls, who got into trouble because of a sick red fox, has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on charges of possessing marijuana and drug paraphernalia and being in a place where drugs were used.

He is to be arraigned on March 22.

The deputy stopped, followed the fox and entered a carport at 125 Arroyo Road.

After he saw what appeared to be marijuana plants in the carport, the deputy obtained a search warrant and returned to the house, where several people were living.

Lesser was charged with the felony marijuana offense, and others in the residence were accused of various misdemeanors.

100 Turn Out For Hearing On School Goals

Called to react to proposed goals of the Larkspur School District, about 100 citizens turned out Tuesday night to back the instructional goals, Supt. Milton S. Cohen reported yesterday.

Cohen said reaction to the objectives drafted by the 25 members of the district goals committee in the past year was "very favorable." The only doubts expressed were to wording rather than substanc, he said.

Cohen said the comments will now be reviewed by the group headed by Willi Fitch before goals are presented to the school district board for final adoption.

Objectives include teaching each child to think independently, adapt to change, "develop standards of basic integrity, ethical conduct, positive moral values, and responsibility for the consequences of his action," accept differenct life styles and be conscious of the environment.

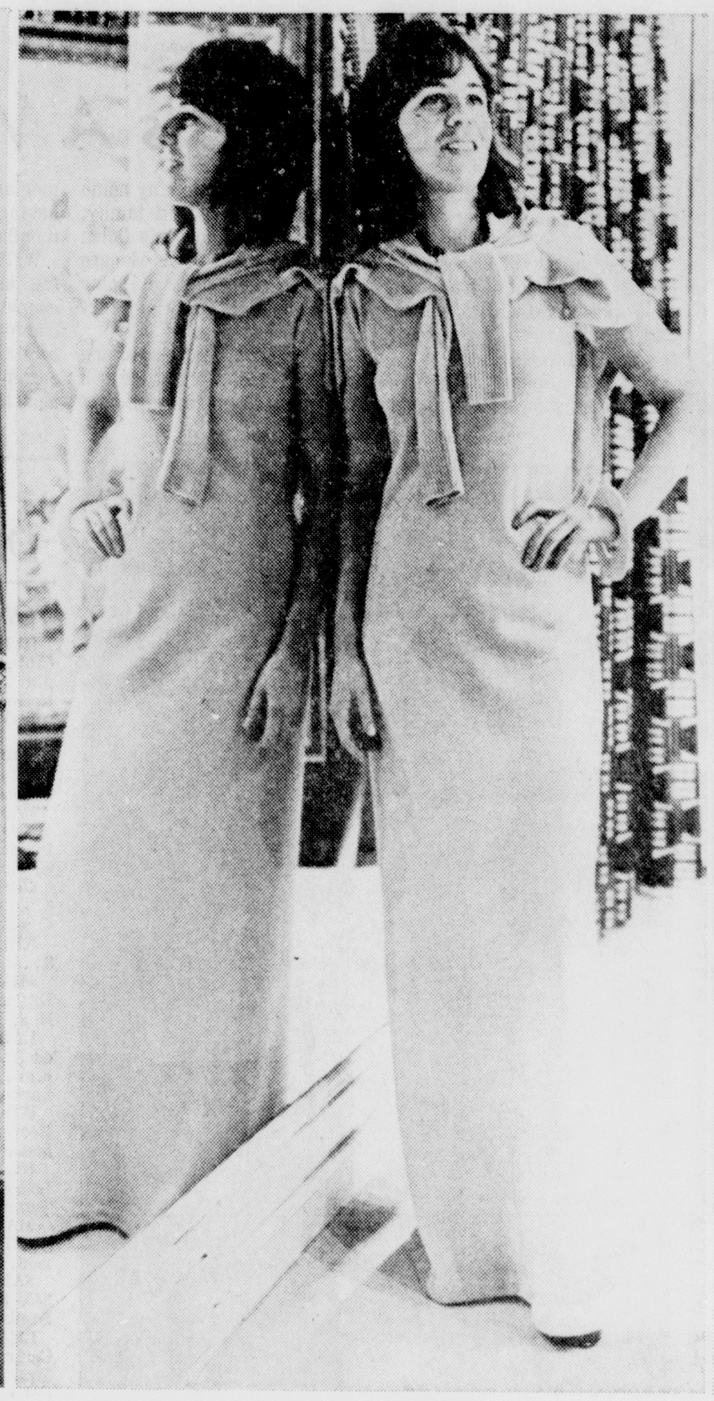
Marin Women

Thursday, March 9, 1972 Independent-Journal, 13

TIRED OF the ravishing creatures that leap forth from the pages of fashion magazines, reporter Diana Loercher persuaded three leading designers to let three of her friends model highlights from their spring lines. The average appearance of the three New York business and professional women is contrasted with the sketch of a stereotype face and figure in a pantsuit by designer Halston. The green wool crepe ensemble with wrap jacket and cuffed and bag trousers is worn over a white cashmere turtleneck. The hand-wrought silver belt was designed by model Elsa Peretti.



TO ILLUSTRATE the easy wearability of the new spring fashions, leading designers were persuaded to let non-professionals model highlights from their spring lines. Silvia Burunat (left), a teacher at the City University of New York, wears a daytime dress by designer Adolpho. The mauve knit has bishop sleeves and gray and white stripes at the midriff. Helen Litton (center), a manuscript editor at Random House, models a baby blue cashmere sweater dress and ties the matching cardigan at the neck. Designer of the dress and sweater is Halston, who says he designs "the most sophisticated clothes you ever saw." In an after-five dress, designed by Rodrigues, is Jane Thornton (right), a secretary. The oyster white crepe dress has a wrap bodice and flutter sleeves that underscore the resurgence of the ruffle.

THE SPRING COLLECTIONS

Fashion's Turnabout: Dignity, Efficiency

By DIANA LOERCHER
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

Those ravishing creatures that leap forth from the pages of Vogue often dress in unearthly disguises that make them look like goddesses and us like gargoyles. Even in this age of permissiveness, many outlandish fashions from the recent past we would scarcely dare wear to a costume party, let alone the office or the market.

This year's spring collections reflect an exciting turnabout in image. Dignity and efficiency are the premises behind the new look, and they combine to produce an impression of functional elegance.

One is tempted to suggest the influence of the women's liberation movement, for the fashion industry now seems to be pitching its woo to a growing consumer market of active women.

To illustrate the easy wearability of the season's new styles on the "under 35" working woman here, I persuaded three leading designers — Adolpho, Halston, Rodrigues —all of whom have rather recently "arrived," to let three of my nervous but eager friends model highlights from their spring lines.

SINCE THE sizes of the clothes that designers keep in their showrooms are forbiddingly small, the women I selected are unrepresentative of the young female population in slenderness but not in general appearance or bearing.

Silvia Burunat was born in Cuba and teaches Spanish literature at the City University of New York. Silvia was a natural choice for the genial Cuban designer Adolpho. The two chatted in Spanish.

Adolpho used to make only hats, but in 1968 he turned to couture. Knits are his forte, and luckily for him body-hugging fashions are "in" this season.

Silvia posed in one of his daytime dresses, a mauve knit with bishop sleeves and gray and white stripes at the midriff. There is a softness to Adolpho's cut that allows the knit to cling gently without exaggerating the figure.

The "layered" or "separates" look is another hallmark of the season, and Adolpho gives its tailored lines a feminine interpretation.

Modish chinoiserie exudes from every nook and cranny of Halston's exotic showroom. Mottled, musky draperies plunge from the ceiling and hang in pendulous curves. Lavish dried arrangements sprawl in Ming porcelain vases amid the silk screens and bamboo furniture.

The handsome and haughty designer scrutinizes all who enter with the stare of a resident mandarin.

HALSTON, WHO, in his own words, designs "the most sophisticated clothes you can imagine," also is a former hat designer. Six years ago he turned his talents to garments.

Regal Chinese caftans, with their virtues of drama and comfort, are among his most arresting creations for the season, but they seemed a bit too theatrical for Helen Litton, who is the manuscript editor of foreign language text books at Random House.

Halston emphasizes softness and sleekness, using luxurious fabrics such as cashmere, silk, suede, jersey and chiffon. His cashmeres are particularly irresistible, and Helen slipped into the cashmere sweater dress as if it were a glove.

Another designer who is comparatively new on the scene is the Portuguese-American Rodrigues, whose romantic afternoon dresses, like most of the spring fashions, dip at least below the knee if not to the floor. His line corroborates the revival of "prettiness" in clothes as well as neat simplicity.

Rodrigues designs for the "average" woman, of whatever size or age, and his reasonable prices testify to this. Yet there is a richness to his fabrics and styles that places them unmistakably in the high-fashion category. Rodrigues, too, puts a premium on softness and takes credit for having helped launch matt jersey.

WILLOWY JANE Thornton, who actually did some modeling as a child and works as a secretary, first looked at a most beguiling floor-length apricot halter dress with a wrap bodice. The return of the versatile halter dress is most welcome. It flatters the wearer with a lovely back and can be dressed up or dressed down with ease.

Crepe, which lends itself to wrap bodice, is another favorite material with Rodrigues. Jane posed in an oyster white with a flutter sleeve that underscores the resurgence of the ruffle. This romantic dress blooms on the body like a magnolia, and it looked so well on Jane that she bought it.

Speaking of flowers, they too are enjoying a renaissance. Rodrigues splashes white ones on a long black silk organza dress with a bubble skirt and a prim pilgrim collar and cuffs. This subtle combination of nature and geometry epitomizes the pristine charm of the spring silhouette.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Mother Makes Her Miserable While Husband Away On Trips

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

I've been married seven months and I'm six months pregnant. My husband has a well-paying job but sometimes has to go out of town overnight.

I always stay with my mother when he's away, but all she does is nag and gripe and make me miserable. She says he's probably with other girls, and I made a mistake marrying him, but I know he isn't and I didn't.

We live in a good neighborhood and my husband has asked the woman next door to watch out for me but I've never stayed alone.

How can I keep my mother quiet during these times? — WORRIED AND HASSLED

DEAR W AND H:

A manless house creaks and groans a lot at night, true, but isn't this preferable to a nagging mother? (And she's not likely to change.)

You're a big girl now. So learn to make it on your own — when your husband isn' home. — HELEN

DEAR WORRIED:

. . .Or get a girl friend to stay with you. . .or ask to sleep on your neighbor's couch until you get up nerve enough to stay alone. Don't make your husband's mother-in-law problem worse by running home to her all the time. — SUE

DEAR RAP:

This problem has eaten my heart for years. My husband and I conceived our oldest son out of wedlock. He is now in his teens and is bound to check his birthdate against our anniversary date before long.

We're a very happy family, have two other children, and we all love each other very much. We go to church regularly and know God has forgiven us, but how can we tell our son? — T.Y.

DEAR T.:

I suspect your teenage son already knows, and wonders why you avoid the subject of his early appearance. Young people these days aren't nearly so concerned over marriage-vs.-birthdates as they are over whether they are truly loved and wanted in a happily secure family.

Why not level with him and find out for yourselves, at the same time letting him know that all premature parents don't go on to build great marriages. You were the lucky ones. —HELEN

DEAR T.:

How do you tell him? — Honestly, matter-of-factly, with emphasis on how much you all love each other. Don't make a big conference table thing of it —and never say you're sorry. That would imply his presence makes you feel guilty, and then he might start feeling your shame — which you should have gotten over long ago.

Don't delay. This is no big problem unless you try to hide it. — SUE

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

I need help. I always tell boys my personal problems. They listen a little and then we go parking or to an old building, and I let them do whatever they want. I'm only 13, and I just can't stop myself. I can't say "no" and I — HATE MYSELF

DEAR H.M.:

Your signature explains it: You hate yourself, so you try to buy affection. Honey, you're paying much too high a price for a little listening — especially when the boys don't even hear you.

Real friends listen because they care about you. You can find them if you let an understanding adult guide you out of this mess. A neighborhood youth counselor, perhaps? — HELEN

DEAR H.:

Maybe you're in love with "love," and you think sex is all there is to it. Getting straight is like going on a diet: you must be really determined or you'll never succeed. Are you? Prove it by leveling with an older person. — SUE

Got a problem? Or a subject for discussion, two-generation style? Direct your questions to either Sue or Helen Bottel — or both, in care of the Independent-Journal, if you want a combination mother-daughter answer.

Mother-Daughter Book's A Hit

NEW YORK (UPI)—Together, Dorothy and Mary Rodgers authored the hit book, "A Word to the Wives." The mother-daughter team, at a press briefing sponsored by the New York Couture Business Council, dropped a few hints brides might use. Samples:

—Pack clothes right on the hangers when you travel and hold them in shape with straight pins. Band suitcases with colored masking tape so you can't miss them at airport baggage counters. Salt takes out red wine spots. Soda water is a great stain remover if used promptly and generously.

Today's Bride Is A Working Girl

A new survey of brides-to-be reveals that 94 out of 100 intend to work after their marriage, and the great majority expect to work full-time.

While a similar study five years ago showed 11 out of every 100 planned to stay home to care for house and family, this year the figure has fallen to six in 100. And those who are giving up their days at home are going into full-time, not part-time work.

Who is this future working bride? A Bride's magazine poll of readers has revealed her median age as almost 21 years, having been engaged for 10 months to a man 24 years old.

WITH THE bride also working after marriage, the new couple will start off with a combined annual family income of $12,900. Her average weekly earnings of $97 campare with her fiance's $151, the study shows, and she expects to continue working.

According to Robert M. Thorsen, publisher of the magazine, "today's bride has changed. She is more mature, has more money, more education and is engaged longer."

One of the reasons for the working bride is that, although she is slightly older than in previous years, there is less of an age differential with her fiance at the time of the first marriage. Recent U.S. Census Bureau figures show that husbands are younger than in previous years, and therefore have not had the time to establish themselves in their career.

Thorsen believes, too, that the completion of college military service, or both may have delayed the husband's career and increased the bride's desire to contribute financially to the marriage, particularly in time of economic stress and rising prices.

Another factor is the trend toward smaller families. Census Bureau figures claim that we are entering a period of the two-child family, with a lessening of labor in raising children and taking care of the house.

IT IS ALMOST safe to assume that an educated bride is a working one. The magazine's survey reveals that 93 per cent of the brides-to-be graduated from high school and 57 per cent attended or are attending college. Thorsen believes "the higher the level of education achieved, the more likely it is that she will want to put it to good use."

The level of education usually will determine the type of occupation the bride has. Other studies have shown that more than 70 per cent of wives who are high school graduates and who have had some college training, but no degree, are employed in white collar jobs, while more than 80 per cent of college graduates are found in professional and technical occupations.

It is apparent that husbands no longer object to having their wives work, and welcome the support, said Thorsen. "Generally speaking, this change in attitude and lifestyle has developed because of the recent economic squeeze, acceptance of zero-population growth, educational achievement, and narrower age differential between the sexes. We can conclude that today's bride will work."

A CHANGE HAS COME

Men's Cutaway Wedding Attire Blotted Out By New Generation

NEW YORK (UPI)—Men's formal wedding attire went virtually without change for decades, but now the younger generation has come along and assassinated the old traditional cutaway.

The single item that did it is a long jacket that looks like something Johnny Cash might wear and it not only comes in dark gray and black but in a vast array of colors and fabrics, including brocade.

IT BURST upon the wedding scene last year when After Six, Inc., brought out what it calls the "Adventurer" and Lord West brought out what it calls the Prince Edward.

Harvey Weinstein, president of Lord West, says there will be 1.4 million formal weddings this year, with the bridegroom renting his attire 90 per cent of the time. This is out of a total of 2 million weddings, a figure that includes only "first" weddings.

"Today's bridegroom will be married in formal attire in much greater numbers than in the past 10 to 15 years," he said. "This results from introducing youthful lines into formal wear with specific designs for the younger generation.

"THE MAJOR revolution in this field has been in inducing the younger man back into formal attire — he had got away from it but he is back now in unprecedented numbers, starting with the summer of 1971.

"The model attracting them is a considerably longer coat in a variety of fabrics appropriate for daytime formal and summer wear. Gray for daytime and black for evening are the most popular colors, followed by brown and blue.

"The flavor of the coat is shaped, a suppressed waist, flared at the hips. It has a black velvet top collar, wide notch lapels framed by Spanish braid. The old traditional cutaway was assassinated when we brought out this Johnny Cash look. Then youth returned in droves."

Robert C. Rudolfker, president of After Six Formals and the largest producer of formal wear in the world, brought out the Adventurer in black and gray but now makes it in almost any color and fabric. And most of it is sold to rental houses.

THE PRINCE Edward (or Adventurer) is worn as a formal cutaway for daytime weddings with an ascot striped tie and stickpin, striped flare pants, cutaway wing collar and no vest. It is also worn as a semi-formal stroller, accessorized with a four-in-hand tie, conventional stroller shirt and striped flare pants. In the evening it is worn with ordinary tuxedo accessories—and flared trousers.

If you are a traditionalist you will wear the same thing men have worn for years — a gray cutaway for formal church weddings, a stroller for semi-formal weddings, a tuxedo for informal evening weddings and white tie and tails for very formal evening weddings.

But the younger generation has done away with that and there is apt to be more color in men's formal wear in the spring and summer for evening weddings than in history although a white dinner jacket will still be the favorite.

"SPRING FORMAL wear is an exciting kaleidoscope of color and fabric interest," Rudolfker said. "Some of the evening looks we feel destined for ave reviews are subtle patterns on patterned jacquards as well as flamboyant brocaded effects in texturized wovens — and in automatic wash and wear.

"The colors we are featuring embrace a wide range of pastels like sunshine yellow, lagoon blue, terra cotta, hothouse orchid and sea green. But despite this collage we expect white to be the standard." There is a white crushed velvet dinner jacket and a white jacquard wedding suit.

And for those who want to be absolutely daring there is even an all white tail suit worn with a blue wing collar, shirt and tie.

"Although the wing collar shirt with black tuxedo or tails remains elegantly correct wedding attire, more and more prospective grooms are mesmerized by the idea of color in a wedding," Rudolfker said.

THE LONG, vaguely Edwardian jacket has replaced the classic morning coat as standard men's attire for formal weddings. The jacket has a youthful appearance, a new approach to formality. It may be worn with white or dark trousers. (UPI Telephoto)

Students Laud Plan At Sonoma College

In a two-hour convocation on the college area master plan, Sonoma County Planning Director George Kovatch forecast a population of 118,000 in the immediate college area. He said the plan makes provisions for open space in residential areas, and open corridors along roadways and waterways.

Some students in the crowd of nearly 1,000 on Tuesday lauded the plan as a good design for an urban area, but questioned the need for urbanization. A faculty member drew applause with the suggestion that the college purchase more land around the campus to assure an open environment.

A student born in Sonoma County challenged the right of the other students, the majority of those present to protest the plan for growth, saying that many of them come from Los Angeles County and are part of the growth problem. Others were more apathetic, saying they would probably be at Sonoma State only a few years and wouldn't see the results of the plan.

College President Thomas H. McGrath moderated the forum and presented a preliminary statement of the college's position on the plan. It suggested that trails, bicycle paths and possibly a public transportation system separate from roadways be built to link the college to Rohnert Park and Cotati.

It also urged the retention of the open, rural character of the college area as "an essential ingredient in the quality of education available on campus." The position suggested areas with top grade soil remain in agricultural zoning.

The college position paper also urged that special precautions be taken in hillside development to protect natural vegatation and wildlife and that commercial development be limited to the northwestern and western borders of the campus.

An enrollment limit on the campus should be set that will still allow for a habitable environment around the college, the paper said.

The student convocation broke into study groups to be led by faculty members and work on a final college position that McGrath will take to public hearings in Rohnert Park, Cotati and before the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors.

Noise Level Of Civilian Craft Asked

The Marin County Aviation Commission has asked for additional information from a recent study on future noise levels at Hamilton Air Force Base.

The study, made by the Association of Bay Area Government, indicated that there would be no increase in the noise level at Hamilton if commerical planes were allowed to use the airstrip.

While the study showed that aircraft noise would be more frequent, it said the intensity of the noise would be no greater than that now being produced by military aircraft.

According to Herbert M. Hanson, commission chairman, his group wants to know what the civilian aircraft noise level would be if military use of the field is ever phased out.

In related action, the commission referred back to the board of supervisors a request from Novato that a citizens' committee be included in planning joint military-civilian use of Hamilton.

Hanson said his commission felt it was up to the supervisors to approve such a request and added that it had no objection.

Treated For Wound From A Gunshot

David J. Wilson, 21, of San Rafael, has been treated at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael for a gunshot wound in his left buttock suffered in an accident.

Sheriff's deputies said Wilson and a friend, Mark Neuhaus, 17, also of San Rafael, were target shooting near San Rafael Monday when Neuhaus's .22-caliber rifle went off accidentally when he was trying to clear it of the wrong-sized ammunition.

Ryken Coffees Are Announced

Five coffees have been scheduled for Edward T. Ryken, candidate of the Novato City Council.

The schedule is at the home of Terry Solnit, 7 Carmel Drive, Sunday at 2:30 p.m.; Mr.and Mrs. Leonard Cronkright, 809 Oleander Lane, Monday, 8 p.m., Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shuck, 1415 Dawes Court, Tuesday, 7:30 p.m.; Alice Price, 1 Rowland Court, next Wednesday, 10:30 a.m., and Mr. and Mrs. Stan Sarganis, 96 Orchard Way, March 19, 2 p.m.

About 500 persons attended a brunch for Ryken's campaign at the Wildhorse Valley Clubhouse in Novato Sunday, according to Jean McConnell, publicity chairman.

Licensed Heroin Supplies Suggested

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Superior Court Judge Francis McCarty yesterday suggested that heroin addicts be given "access to legitimate supplies from government controlled and licensed addiction centers."

McCarty said the United Kingdom, which provides legal heroin for registered addicts, has much less of a problem than the United States.

Development Plans In Review Booted

The Petaluma Planning Commission last night rejected a suggestion to include commercial and industrial developments in an annual review.

Robert E. Daly, city council representative to the commission, suggested that in addition to yearly reviews of what residential development should be permitted, that commercial and industrial plans should also be considered.

Although he got no support from fellow commissioners, Daly said he believed that all commercial and industrial plans should be considered together to determine what effect they may have on city services such as water and sewer. Burdette A. Shannon, Petaluma, Chamber of Commerce manager, objected strongly, saying it would hamper the chamber in attracting new businesses.

The city plans an annual review of all residential developments so the best can be chosen within the 500 home per year limit in relation to school and city services.

With the rezoning moratorium lifted for the first time in more than a year, the commission had nine rezoning requests on its agenda, Asst. Planner Richard D. A. Anderson said the requests would be considered at the first meeting after the update of the general plan is final.

In other business, the commission approved the request of Fiber Stress Inc., to manufacture lightweight camper trailers at 150 Hopper Street; request of Texaco Inc. for a service station at 910 Baywood Drive, and preliminary plans of Atlantic and Pacific Co. for a shopping center at Baywood Drive and Perry Lane to include a bowling alley, food market and small shops.

Charge By Officer In Orr Hearing

A Fairfax policeman mentioned by Fairfax City Councilman Francis J. O'Connell in testimony Monday at a hearing on the firing of police chief James R. Orr yesterday charged O'Connell with lying.

O'Connell told the Fairfax Board of Review, hearing Orr's appeal of his dismissal, that Davis had told him that he (Davis) would not testify at the hearing, but later did testify. O'Connell suggested that "somebody might have gotten to" Davis to influence him to testify.

O'Connell also said that Davis had told him that he and Orr had had a "run-in" about 18 months before, but that their problems had been settled and that Davis had "nothing but respect" for the chief.

Davis today denied telling he didn't want to testify. "He lied," said Davis.

Session On Leader Plan Harmonious

Ill feeling was conspicuously absent Tuesday night when Tamalpais High School District's superintendent presented his controversial educational leader plan to the Tamalpais High School Parent-Teacher Association, a district spokesman reported yesterday.

Edward J. Neumeier, administrative assistant, said about 100 parents attended, but were "really asking questions rather than provoking."

Their questions were about Supt. Wilber D. Hawkins's plan to demote principal Raymond J. Bell by splitting his job into educational leader and a subordinate principal position.

Neumeier said Hawkins answered from 30 to 50 written questions from the audience, then fielded a few oral queries. Only one of those questions indicated any hostility despite promises of an angry greeting for the superintendent made by two parents at Monday's district board meeting.

The board will consider approving Hawkins's proposal at an adjourned meeting Monday.

Reception Will Honor Authors

The Sonoma State College English Department will host a champagne reception tomorrow from 4 to 6:30 p.m. at the Newman Center, 335 East Cotati Avenue, Cotati, for two faculty members who have recently published books.

The two authors are Gerald Rosen and Elizabeth Bright. Rosen's book, "Blues For A Dying Nation" was published Feb. 29 by Dial Press. Miss Bright's book, "A Word Geography of California and Nevada" was published by the University of California Press and is an outgrowth of her doctoral studies.

ART REVIEW

Gallery Showing Is Pretty Fantastic

"The Fantastic Object" is this month's theme at the Marin Society of Artists' Gallery in Ross. Needless to say, it has provided a field day for potters, weavers and sculptors, the designation "object" being a somewhat natural barrier to painters.

While the entries are few, they are high in imagination and spirit.

"Fantastic" can mean many things: weird, grotesque, quaint, bizarre, eccentric, unusual, or fantastically absurd, as when Gene Szemanski envisions the "Good Earth" by completely encasing about eight pounds of unwashed potatoes in a standing glass case. . .or fantastically funny, as in Jon Caver's wire-and-glass caricature titled "E.R."

Compulsive could describe Marge Reese's sculptured woman's hand pushing back the rock of time. And Martin Stoelzel's redwood sculpture titled "Birth of a Nation, Part I" is serious as it depicts flames and smoke-filled sky.

A Buxom nude protruding from the front and rear of a ceramic bottle in the decor of a bordello is by Yvonne Beller, and bears the understated title, "Waiting."

And fetish objects by Chris Wagener and Wendy Lilienthal, who mix fur and feathers, and Anne Wienholt's metal "Omen For A New Day" (complete with typed instructions for "positioning for best results" and a caution to keep out of the reach of children) are simply fantastic.

Other designations could be "fantastically beautiful" for Carol Herschleb's lusterware sculptures, and "fantastically far-out" for Catherine Gibson's miniature soft-sculpture tent, suspended from the gallery ceiling, and complete with toy train.

Merit awards were given the following participants: Catherine Gibson for "Katie Kelly's Meditation Pad," Martin Stoelzel for "Birth of a Nation, Part I," and Wendy Lilienthal for "Pin Wheels," a macrame weaving.

The society's gallery is located in the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross, and is open daily form 1 to 4 p.m. The gallery will be closed on Good Friday. The Fantastic Objects exhibit will continue through April 1.

College Of Marin Paper Back To Weekly Format

The College of Marin student newspaper, snarled all year in funding and content debates, has emerged as a weekly paper emphasizing local coverage.

Mark Bredt, editor-in-chief, said yesterday the Board of Student Publications voted 4-1 last week to return to weekly coverage of campus events.

The new policy evident in the paper's last version published March 1 signaled the end of a free-wheeling, sporadic publication edited by Peter A. Menkin which often was criticized for lack of college news.

Dissension boiled on the staff and the associated students executive council cut the paper's budget. Menkin resigned in protest of the cut and what he called restrictions on content, but the council refused to accept it.

Under Menkin the Times was broad-ranging, with articles on everything from John Lennon to mental telepathy. At the end it was a biweekly paper of from 12 to 20 pages.

To make ends meet the new weekly is only eight pages, but more local news is included, Bredt said. The paper will be published each Wednesday.

Bredt said the only dissent from the change was by managing editor Spencer Sias who felt the paper would therefore abandon the "new journalism" concept of in depth reporting.

Zone Board Passes Office Building Plan

Auto Parts Supply Co. had requested permission for an office and storage area adjacent to 32 Fourth Street. Also approved Tuesday was the request of Raymond Cooper and Marvin Klebe for a duplex at 328 and 330 Vallejo Street.

College Will Bring Wilde's 'Earnest'

The first of 12 performances of Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest" will be staged by the College of Marin Theater Arts Department at 8 p.m. on Friday.

The play will be performed nightly, except Mondays and Tuesdays, through March 25.

A satirical attack on the morality of upper class British society during the Victorian period, Wilde's play has been drastically updated by director Ronald Krempetz. Rejecting 19th century scenic designs and costumes, Krempetz has substituted a "mod" look and a contemporary cast. The elegance and woody richness of Edwardian England have given way to stark whites, chromes and plastics of modern London architecture. Wilde's Victorian playboy has been transformed into a rich, hip London photographer.

The cast includes Bette Besuner of San Rafael as Miss Prism, Robin Buckley of San Rafael, as Gwendolyn, William Childs of Inverness as Merriman, Sheldon Lipkin of San Rafael as Algernon, Howard McMaster of San Francisco, as John, Karyn Nikas of San Rafael as Cecily, Denisse Orr of Ross as Lady Bracknell, Mark Schwartz of San Anselmo as Lane, and Robin Williams of Tiburon as Chasuble.

'EARNEST' UPDATED — Karyn Nikas and Sheldon Lipkin will star in a dozen performances of "The Importance of Being Earnest," which is scheduled to open Friday night at the College of Marin. Costumes for most of the cast are San Francisco originals, designed by Ann Wainwright for Alvin Duskin.

Tax Deduction Bill Moves

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Assembly Ways and Means Committee has approved a bill increasing income tax deductions for child care and work-related household expenses.

Assemblyman Joe A. Gonsalves, D-Newark, authored the bill passed Wednesday that would allow a working parent to deduct up to $100 a month for the care of one child and up to $200 a month for three or more cildren.

The deduction would be scaled down for a taxpayer or married couple whose combined income exceeded $12,000 annually.

Will Make Race

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Freshman Assemblyman Bill Brophy, R-Los Angeles, has announced he will leave the state legislature to wage a $250,000 campaign for the congressional seat of veteran Rep. Edward R. Roybal, D-Los Angeles.

To Seek Seat

MODESTO (UPI) —Former Assemblyman Clare Berryhill, a Ceres rancher, will seek the Republican nomination in the 3rd state Senate District.

Song Attacking Exclusion Law

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Sen. Alfred Song, the Senate's only member of Asian ancestry, has moved to purge California statute books of vestiges of "Oriental exclusion" laws stretching back almost 100 years.

The Monterey Park Democrat introduced a bill Wednesday that would repeal an archaic law prohibiting the "importation" of Chinese or Japanese women "for sale" or for the purpose of "residing with any other person against her will."

It also would eliminate a requirement that a permit be obtained from immigration authorities for the "importation" of Japanese or Chinese persons.

Named To Board

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Dr. Kenneth D. Pack of Fresno has been named to a four-year term on the state Board of Chiropractic Examiners by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Debt Limit Measure Goes To Conference

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A bill raising the national debt limit to $450 billion headed for a congressional conference committee today. It included amendments opposed by the administration that would make the government spend less.

The Senate passed the bill 53-29 Wednesday, but first it attached amendments to impose a spending ceiling during the 1973 fiscal year beginning July 1. The House immediately rejected these amendments by voice vote, forcing the measure into a House-Senate conference committee to resolve the differences.

The government now is expected to run about a $45 billion deficit in the fiscal year which ends June 30. The debt limit law allows it to borrow money to pay its bills.

The nation's permanent debt limit is $400 billion, and a temporary $30 billion extension runs out June 30. The administration sought another "temporary" extension to $480 billion through mid-1973, but the House and Senate both decided on the short-term $450 billion figure to tide the Treasury over until a better assessment of the economic picture can be made late in the spring.

Antibusing Forces See Victory Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Antibusing forces claimed today they were "within shooting distance" of the two-thirds vote needed to get House approval of a constitutional amendment banning busing of school children to obtain racial balance.

A House bloc opposed to the practice was buoyed Wednesday by a House decision to stand fast behind the strongest antibusing amendments yet acted on in Congress.

On a 272-139 vote, the House ordered its representatives in a House-Senate conference committee to stand by the amendments, which were attached to a five-year, $24 billion authorization for aid to higher education.

Rep. Don Clausen, R-First District voted yes, and Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, voted no.

Late last year the House added language to its version of the education bill that would hold up court-ordered segregation plans until all legal appeals from the orders were exhausted. Other amendments stipulated that federal agencies could not order local school districts to pay for busing and that the government could not withhold school aid of any kind in order to force busing.

The Senate rejected all of the House language and voted instead for an amendment that would prohibit federal funds for forced busing unless school officials asked for them; would ban federal officials from requiring busing unless ordered by a court; and postpone until June 30, 1973, any court desegregation order that required transfer of pupils over school district lines as ordered at Richmond, Va.

Remodeling Voted For Capitol Wall

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Congressional leaders have approved a plan for major and controversial remodeling of the U.S. Capitol's historic West Front, the only portion of the original exterior still visible.

Despite prolonged criticism from within and outside Congress, the Commission for the Extension of the U.S. Capitol — including leaders of both parties —voted unanimously Wednesday to proceed with the plan calling for replacement of the original sandstone with marble and a 33-foot extension of the building.

George White, the Capitol architect, has estimated cost of the project at between $50 and $60 million. After the commission vote, White said the panel felt the less expensive option of repairing the West Front would not adequately safeguard its beauty and durability.

Irving, Wife Indicted By Two Juries

NEW YORK (UPI)—Author Clifford Irving, his wife and a researcher were indicted by federal and New York County grand juries today on charges of mail fraud, grand larceny, forgery and perjury for their roles in the bizarre Howard Hughes "autobiography" case.

The federal panel charged Irving and his wife with two counts of mail fraud and conspiring to use the mails to defraud McGraw-Hill Publishers. Researcher Richard Suskind was named as an unindicted co-conspirator.

The 25-count indictment handed up by the county grand jury charged Irving and Suskind with grand larceny, forgery and perjury in the second degree. Mrs. Irving, who admitted using the name "Helga R. Hughes" to cash $650,000 in checks, was charged with forgery and grand larceny.

A Hughes spokesman in Los Angeles said "We are gratified, of course, that these three people will be held accountable for their actions, but our chief interest still is in finding out who was behind this in engineering a plot."

A spokesman for McGraw-Hill said the publishing house was "deeply interested in the findings. However, until we know the details which led to the indictments, we cannot make a final decision on the ultimate disposition of the manuscript."

Sonoma Jail Inmates Tell Of Grievances

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — A committee of prisoners at the Sonoma County Jail were airing grievances on food and clothing today with sheriff's personnel, grievances apparently at the root of outbursts of violence Tuesday.

The first outbreak occurred at 4:30 p.m., according to deputies, when unsentenced prisoners in a 20-man cell began burning blankets and clothing, tore light fixtures from the walls and plugged sinks flooding two cells.

Sonoma Sheriff Donald Striepeke said none of the men left the cell and that force was not needed to quell the disturbance. He said, however, that another group of 125 men on the second floor believed men were going to be punished and began a second disturbance. He said more lights were broken there and some plumbing was torn from the wall.

Striepeke said that shortly after the disturbance, a committee of four prisoners met with him and jail Capt. C. W. Bowen and sheriff's Capt. Robert Hayes to air their grievances.

Striepeke said the men complained of poorly prepared food and inadequate clothing. He said the jail employs only one civilian cook who is assisted by several inmates in preparing meals. Striepeke said he would ask the board of supervisors to provide funds to hire additional civilian cooks.

Striepeke said he realized that the clothing supply was inadequate, and explained that additional clothing has been ordered, but delivery has been delayed.

Striepeke said he will meet with Sonoma supervisors early next week to give a full report of damage. The supervisors, who went to the jail shortly after the first disturbance, were on hand to witness the second, according to the sheriff's department. They told Striepeke they would work with him to correct jail problems.

Warrant Out In Bar Shooting

San Rafael police obtained a warrant yesterday for a former Alcatraz inmate in connection with the shooting of an Ohio man at a San Rafael tavern Monday.

Judge Robert A. Smallman of Marin Municipal Court, who issued the warrant, set bail for William Jerry Williams, 45, at $50,000.

Williams is charged in the warrant with assualt with a deadly weapon in connection with the shooting of Harvey M. McGuire, 23, who had been living at a San Rafael motel since coming to Marin from Portsmouth Ohio, about 10 days ago.

Williams was sentenced to 15 years in federal prison in 1959 for the armed robbery of the Point Reyes Station branch of the Bank of America.

San Rafael Police Chief Joseph J. Brusatori said Williams served about eight years of that sentence before being paroled.

Brusatori said Williams's whereabouts are unknown, but that it is believed he had been living recently in West Marin and operating a tree service firm in Southern Marin.

McGuire remained in serious condition today at Marin General Hospital.

He was shot at the Fleur de France tavern, 720 B Street, by a bullet which first passed through his cousin, James R. McGuire, 29, of Pikeville, Ky. James McGuire suffered only a "superficial" wound, however.

Asks Trial Delay

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Frank Katz, deputy public defender of Santa Clara County, has asked the California Supreme Court to delay the scheduled March 20 trial of Pamela Watkins, 18, the babysitter accused of slaying two small children and dumping the bodies in a trash bin.

TO BE, OR NOT TO BE — Whether it should be a city in its own right is the big question for residents of Strawberry, a portion of which is here viewed from the new Strawberry Recreation Center. These comfortable homes and rolling land on the Tiburon Peninsula have been the object of rival annexation moves by the neighboring cities of Tiburon and Mill Valley, hungry for the tax revenues of the Town and Country Village shopping center on Highway 101 and the burgeoning businesses nearby.

Strawberry To Take Bold Step

By DAVID DIETZ

Last November, after a bitter campaign, Strawberry voters soundly rejected a bid by the City of Tiburon to annex the unincorporated area of 5,700 residents.

Though residents won the day, a hangover lingered: What now?

The vote was no guarantee against new attempts by Tiburon, or even Mill Valley across Highway 101, to annex the 1,078-acre area, opponents felt. Moreover, as many recognized, Tiburon city officials had hit a sore spot with the campaign argument that Strawberry residents had no local control over community planning.

That was handled at the county level. In addition a master plan for the Strawberry was decades out of date, and area development was pushing ahead at a brisk pace.

A group of citizens decided to act. They formed the Strawberry Area Community Council, designed to give residents a voice in the area's future. The five-member council, in turn, established a planning committee which has just completed work on an ambitious project: compiling the first comprehensive general plan the community ever has had.

Although maps have been drawn and guidelines suggested, the proposal is tentative at this time in order to afford the opportunity for community-wide response. This will come at 9 a.m.-noon Saturday at the Strawberry Recreation Center, when the citizen planners hold a mass meeting of community residents.

Most of the work on the project has been done by J. Martin Rosse, a tall, graying architect who is chairman of the planning committee. Rosse, a community resident, also serves as the architect for the Strawberry Recreation District, and designed the cathedral-like community center.

Last night, prior to a meeting of his committee, Rosse, reflecting on last fall's campaign, said, "The pressing issue was that Tiburon could offer local control of planning.

"After the election, people were wondering why all the controversy. It all seemed to come down to planning. The feeling was, 'Let's go on and do something positive.' "

The citizen planners went to the county for financial help in drawing a master plan, but were turned down for lack of funds, although the county planning department did provide staff help. Some financial assistance came from donations and $1,000 from the treasury of the defunct Strawberry Property Owners Association, but the project is largely a product of time and materials donated by Rosse.

The master plan, unlike earlier area plans dating back to 1950, is the first to deal with the full community — an area bordered by Highway 101 on the west, Corte Madera on the north and the Tiburon city limit, beyond Pelican Hill, on the east. If it wins community approval Saturday, the proposal will be submitted to the county planning commission and board of supervisors.

Rosse said the thrust of the plan is not zoning upheaval, but rather a freshening of outmoded designations that may have applied in the 1950s but no longer do today, and control over density in both single-family and multiple residential areas.

If development follows the plan's guidelines, Rosse said, the ultimate population of the area would be about 10,000 persons, nearly double the present count.

Updating of zoning is proposed primarily in tideland areas, now affixed with such diverse and inconsistent designations as agricultural and multiple residential. Most of the tidelands, made subject several years ago to Bay Conservation and Development Commission regulations, are proposed for open area under the master plan.

Other regions designated as open area are the Corte Madera Ridge — a zoning in line with the county parks master plan — and a piece of property now zoned single-family residential atop Ricardo Hill. Open space also is proposed to extend into an area now zoned single family along the Salt Works Canal south of Strawberry Point School.

Otherwise, general zoning designations would stay much as they are, except to set density limits.

While the planning committee has been working on the general plan, the parent council has announced its intention to poll residents on whether they wish to remain part of the county's unincorporated area or incorporate.

The council said last week it planned to send a representative to Sacramento to compile fiscal data on the question to help citizens decide.

Larkspur Candidates For A Broader Base For Tax

By LARRY MOWELL

Four of the seven candidates for Larkspur City Council today urged varying degrees of control on building, but favored more commercial growth to spread the tax base.

Challengers Joan Sestak and Robert H. Lee however, spelled out more control than incumbents Benton A. Sifford Jr. and William G. Fleckles on radio station KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board."

A fifth candidate, Elizabeth Johnson, a 29-year-old law student who lives in the Greenbrae Boardwalk, spoke mostly of improving the city more for people.

The remaining two candidates, Mayor Earl J. O'Grady and Jane Epidendio, did not appear. O'Grady had a business appointment and Mrs. Epidendio declined for a family affair. A report by moderator Kitty Oppenheimer in yesterday's Independent-Journal that Mrs. Epidendio isn't campaigning is untrue. She called during the broadcast to say she is in the race.

Focusing on development, Lee said Larkspur's "most important issue is insuring the preservation of what we moved here for in the first place, its natural environment."

The 46-year-old planning commissioner called for abandoning the belief that an owner has an innate right to develop his land regardless of consequences and urged that the North Ridge area be put in a study zone, public access be insured to Corte Madera Creek and apartment building be barred.

"There is already too much R-3 around Larkspur. No more is desirable at this time," he said.

His solution to development woes was to staff more adequately the city planning department and he promised to immediately move to shift money for more planning staff if elected.

Mrs. Sestak, 37, former chairman of the Town Meeting Group, was equally adamant for tightening requirements on development. "For Larkspur it is now or never to revise our ordinances and tighten up our general plan," she said.

She said citizens must develop a "sense of urgency, of crisis."

One caller asked her how she can oppose building while her husband, an architect-developer, is buidling an apartment house in Greenbrae. "I've never said 'no building.' I've said what building where," she replied.

Both Sifford, a 57-year-old insurance executive and Fleckles, 42, a San Francisco attorney, pointed to their votes three times in favor of building moratoriums.

Sifford, favoring balanced growth, said, "While we have had growth, my voting record does not concur that it has had all the quality I would like to have seen."

Fleckles called preservation of the physical environment the city's top priority and sought reexamination of the fill and excavation ordinance to protect steep areas.

He also urged rapid action to move the police department out of its "broom closet" in city hall and to purchase a small redwood grove on property that once belonged to the late Mary Fraser.

He and Sifford noted the tax base is weak in sales tax revenue and suggested more business. Lee favored more "brains and talent" on the city staff to cut cost. He said the city spends only $21,000 a year on planning compared to $62,000 in smaller Tiburon.

Mrs. Johnson, who attends Lincoln University School of Law in San Francisco, said the city government is unresponsive and suggested city council meetings called only to hear public gripes.

She wanted more things for people like bicycle trails, paths and benches for casual conversations.

She called the Doherty Drive-Magnolia Avenue intersection improvement a good example of auto oriented, but not people oriented, change.

Asked by a caller about ways to protect the North Ridge until it is bought for a park, Mrs. Sestak and Mrs. Johnson favored a moratorium, Lee suggested an agreement might be reached with the landowner, but Fleckles said most of the available legal measures are too short-range to be of value.

The discussion will be rebroadcast at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

Machinery In Motion To Study Hub School Funds

By C. P. McCARTHY

One of six committees formed to study the San Anselmo School District — faced with a financial crisis next year — has criticized the school district board for allowing the crisis to occur.

The six committees — made up of district residents, staff and teachers — were appointed last December to study six general areas of district operation after it was determined the district faced diminishing reserve funds and a projected $190,000 deficit in the 1972-73 school year.

The committees presented preliminary reports to the school board Tuesday. The board directed the six committee chairmen to meet with outgoing Supt. W. Kenneth Lowry and interim Supt. Ivan D. Chappell to review the reports and determine major points for further analysis. The administrators and committee chairmen will meet at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at Red Hill School.

The school board then will meet in special session Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at Red Hill School with the 120 committee members to discuss the reports.

The criticism of the board came in a report by the committee on budget and finance.

"We hope that in the future you will act to solve a problem before it becomes a crisis. Citizens simply cannot solve a problem in eight weeks that has been three to five years in the making," the committee report said.

It urged the school board "to make a greater effort to address themselves to the issues and forget personal differences."

It also urged the district to undertake long range budget planning which would "make it possible to anticipate and resolve a problem before it becomes an emergency."

In a five-year budget plan the committee prepared itself, it recommended the closing of Yolansdale and Isabel Cook schools and sale of the school sites, and the moving of all seventh and eighth grade students to Hidden Valley school, and using Red Hill School (now seventh and eighth grades) for lower grades.

The one junior high school — at Hidden Valley — was also recommended by the committee on school housing and sites, which also recommended closing Isabel Cook and Yolansdale and the sale of the Isabel Cook site. The committee, however, recommended retaining the Yolansdale site for district offices and playground.

The committee on regular programs and services recommended eliminating a bus and driver contracted for by the district for transporting some students to and from school. The cut would result in a savings of $10,000, the committee said, and transportation could be provided by car pools or regular Golden Gate Bridge District bus routes.

The district could save up to $90,000 in salaries by raising the student-teacher ratio from 1-to-23 to "not more than" 1-to-27, the committee said.

Better communication between the district and the community and more "meaningful community involvement" with the district was recommended by the committee on educational organization.

The committee on pay urged a study of the need for specialized jobs such as head librarian, music teacher and nursing services. It further recommended — as did the committee on regular programs and services —using one principal for both Red Hill and Hidden Valley schools.

The committee on special education warned against budget cuts to special education programs, saying "the programs are not in fact serving a select few but are providing opportunities in learning for a large number of our students."

Fire Directors Hike Their Pay

The chief reported that 26 men have passed the written examination for firemen. Agility tests will be given Saturday and oral examinations starting Tuesday.

The department is scheduled to hire four new men so the crews can switch from a 70-hour to 63-hour work week.

FAKE CUE BID

When North raised to three hearts, South wanted to be in a slam, but he was afraid of a club lead. South therefore made the fake cue bid of four clubs. Normally, this sort of bid shows the ace of clubs and slam ambitions.

North was pretty sure that his partner was throwing a spitball, since the ace of clubs was in plain sight in his own hand. Having no more to add to his previous bids, North signed off at four hearts.

South thereupon jumped to six hearts and waited with a calm face for West to make the opening lead.

DEAD GIVEAWAY

South's bidding was a dead giveaway to a really expert opponent. When South bid four clubs, his partner gave him no encouragement at all; but South still jumped to six hearts. What had South found out by bidding four clubs? Obviously South had not been trying to give information to his partner; he had been trying to give misinformation to the opponents.

West came to the correct conclusion that South didn't want a club lead. Therefore West defiantly led a club. This defeated the slam. The defenders were sure to get a club and the ace of spades.

CORRECT JUMP

If South had jumped all the way from three hearts to six hearts, West would have opened the queen of diamonds. South would win, draw trumps and develop the spades to make the slam contract.

It doesn't always pay to be crafty.

DAILY QUESTION

You hold:
♥ - 8 4
♦ - 9 3 2
♣ - K Q 7 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

You have good trumps, five points in high cards and a doubleton. In any reasonable system you should be able to raise your partner's major suit with a hand of this kind, partly to keep the opponents out.

Dual Innocent Pleas In Burglary

Two Sonoma County men have pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court to charges of burglary and concealing stolen property stemming from the burglary of a San Rafael residence Feb. 5.

Jury trial for Anthony Silva, 27, of Rio Nido, and Charles Floyd Inman, 36, of Santa Rosa, was set for the week of April 24.

They were arrested after a resident of another house reported to police he had scared off a possible burglar.

Welfare, Housing Bills Introduced

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Bills to require low and moderate-income housing in subdivisions and to prevent cutting some 29,000 young persons from welfare rolls have been introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The housing measure was requested by the Marin County Board of Supervisors, and strong opposition is expected by Bagley's office from developers arguing it would infringe on private property rights.

The housing bill would authorize county boards of supervisors to require inclusion of such housing in any subdivision development or other housing program.

The welfare measure would prevent the Reagan administration from cutting off welfare aid to youths between the ages of 18 and 21. The administration claims that the new law giving most adult rights to 18-year-olds automatically also cut them out of the aid to families with dependent children program.

Bay Area Painters Show At Gate Five

More than 300 paintings by Marin and other Bay Area counties will be displayed all day Saturday and Sunday at the Original Gate Five Art Show in Sausalito, across from Clipper Yacht Harbor.

Marin County painters included in the show are Bill Barley of Tiburon, Deanna deChauron of Belvedere, Ann Griffith and Summer George Anderson of Mill Valley.

Carrow Named As Delegate

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Attorney Robert D. Carrow of Novato has been selected as one of eight delegates from the Sixth Congressional District backing the presidential candidacy of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., on California's June primary election ballot.

Named as an alternate delegate was Charles B. Weers of Black Point, secretary of the Marin County Labor Council.

Their selection was announced by San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto, Northern California chairman of Humphrey's campaign. The sixth district includes Marin and part of San Francisco.

Paintings Of Marin

Thirty acrylic paintings by Christaincy Pickett of San Rafael will be displayed through March in the San Rafael Public Library. Marin County's hills, lakes and woods highlight his paintings.

Rough Going Seen For Votes Bill

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A measure to require published roll call votes by legislative committees is headed for rough going as it hits its first Assembly hurdle, the rules committee of the lower house.

Its chairman, Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, has had the legislative counsel draft eight amendments to the measure (SCR 4) by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael. Burton's committee on Tuesday will hear the measure, which already has passed the Senate.

Behr, however, said yesterday he will oppose any effort to amend his measure. He termed Burton's amendments unnecessary, cumbersome, costly and risky because they could mean defeat of the measure if it had to be returned to the Senate for concurrence in such Assembly amendments.

Burton would extend the provisions of Behr's measure to all committee actions, including votes on amendments and subcommittee reports. Behr's measure would apply only to final votes on bills.

Burton originally called Behr's measure stupid, wasteful, expensive and inefficient, but now says he wants to "improve" it.

Innocent Plea To Burglary, Pot Charge

Thomas La Cava Russo, 28, of no known address, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to charges of burglary and possessing marijuana stemming from his arrest Saturday at the Village Fair in Sausalito.

A preliminary hearing was set for March 17.

Police said two patrolmen noticed Russon atop a metal gate on stairs leading to the building's shops about 3:15 a.m. After Russon was arrested, officers said they found about $500 worth of leather articles and about $100 in cash taken from a shop nearby.

DOUGLAS E. OLIVER
To Eagle rank

Eagle Rank Due Scout On Monday

Douglas E. Oliver, who has been a scout for only four years, will be awarded the Eagle rank Monday night.

He is assistant senior patrol leader with Troop 38, sponsored by St. Luke Presbyterian Church.

He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Gilbert V. Oliver, 44 Dorian Way, San Rafael, and a freshman at San Rafael High School.

For his eagle project, he financed and built a dental hygiene teaching unit. Douglas donated it to the auxiliary of the Marin County Dental Association, which is using it to teach hygiene to kindergartners in the county.

Among his interests are baseball, swimming, and water polo. He also crews on a racing Columbia 22 yacht and hunts deer with a bow and arrow. He umpires for the local Little League, plays in the high school jazz band and is a member of the handbell choir at St. Luke's Church.

Jury Trial Set In Grand Theft

A jury trial has been set in Marin Superior Court for the week of May 8 for Angelo Allegra, 46, of Novato, who is charged with grand theft in connection with the sale of used cars which has odometers rolled back.

Allegra had admitted guilt in connection with the sale of a car at T and D Autos in Ignacio but then changed his mind and withdrew the guilty plea.

Allegra's former employer, Timothy Daniel O'Donnell, 31, who now lives in Oakland, has pleaded guilty to two counts of grand theft and received a jail sentence.

Senate Confirms U.S. Comptroller

Camp was reappointed to the post in which he administers national banks by President Nixon on Jan. 29.

Group Will Fight Flood Control Plan

Sleepy Hollow will try to wriggle out of the Ross Valley Flood Control Sub-Zone 9-A when the subzone's board meets at 8 p.m. today at Wolfe Grade School.

Residents of the unincorporated community fear the subzone might add expensive capital improvements to its present maintenance duties, object to the possibility of dual taxation for flood control and think the Ross Valley Flood Control Zone can handle the subzone's work, according to Charles E. Murphy, county flood control engineer.

Although residents of unincorporated areas in the Ross Valley now pay 5 cents per $100 assessed valuation, they could be taxed up to a rate of $2.05.

In a move designed to answer some fears, the board will also consider a preliminary budget of $23,000 which includes only administration, maintenance and creek inspection costs. He said a tax rate of 4 cents per $100 assessed valuation will be needed.

Resigns Post

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —State Board of Education President Henry T. Gunderson has resigned due to health reasons.

Four-Man Team Climbs Needle

LONE PINE, Calif. (UPI)—The 14,240-foot high Keeler Needle has been conquered by mountain climbers for a second time, led by the same man who led the first successful ascent.

The needle—just south of the highest peak in the 48 contiguous United States, Mt. Whitney—has cost the lives of several climbers, according to the National Forest Service.

The climbing team was led by Warren J. Harding of West Sacramento, Calif., who led a four-man team to the top in July, 1960. He was accompanied this time by Galen Rowell of Albany, Calif., and Tim Auger, son of a Vancouver, British Columbia, newspaper publisher.

Some Way To Start The Day

SEATTLE (UPI) —An employe of a men's clothing store no doubt agrees with a robber he met Wednesday.

Gary L. Thompson said an unshaved man stuck a gun in his back and said:

Thompson said the gunman ordered him to hand over an undetermined amount of money from the cash register at Don's Men's Shop, then lie on the floor. The robber then fled.

Finley: Blue 'Browbeaten'

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Vida Blue and Charles Finley remained far apart in their contract negotiations today with the star pitcher suggesting he be made a free agent in 1973 and the Oakland Athletic club-owner pointing out that Vida won't be able to pitch until April 15.

Blue offered through his attorney Wednesday to play the 1972 season for $50,000 if he can be a free agent at the end of the season —an agreement which would be unprecedented in baseball history.

Robert Gerst, Blue's attorney-agent, said the offer was in reply to a letter from Finley demanding that Blue report under the reserve clause. He said Blue, who had a 24-8 record and a 1.82 earned run average in 1971, will not report until Finley replies to his latest offer.

Finley, who says his final offer is $50,000 compared to Blue's demand for $92,500, said Vida "has been brain-washed and browbeaten by his attorney" and added, "because of his lost training time, Blue would not start a game before April 15, that is if he reported right now, today...the longer Vida holds out, naturally the longer it will be before he gets a start."

Meanwhile, the Blue-Finley war of words added a dimension when newly-acquired pitcher Denny McLain was tossed into the breach. The former Detroit Tiger and Washington Senator was brought into the picture when Gerst commented: "He (Finley) says he can't pay Blue more than $50,000 without raising prices, and then he goes out and gets Denny McLain for $85,000."

Finley replied that "We would not have made that trade had Vida been in the fold."

In other camps: Bill Parsons, Jim Lonborg and Ken Sanders were named to pitch three innings each Friday in the Milwaukee Brewers' first exhibition game against the Cleveland Indians.

Earl Williams, National League Rookie of the Year in 1971, worked out with the Atlanta Braves for the first time although he is still unsigned...Jim Mason's double was the big blow of a three-run second inning which paced the Rangers to a 6-2 win over the New York Yankees...Rookie outfielder Jorge Roque had two doubles and two singles in the St. Louis Cardinals' intra-squad game.

Rookie catcher Glenn Borgmann drove in four runs with a three-run homer and a single as the Minnesota Twins hammered World Series hero Steve Blass for six runs in three innings and beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-3, for their fifth straight exhibition victory. New York Mets shaded the Detroit Tigers, 4-3, on Dave Schneck's run-scoring single.

NOT EXACTLY A FAMILY CAR

More Safety At 226 Miles Per Hour

By RON LENT

Two Marin County businesses, one from Carson City plus assorted others have pooled resources in developing a safety-oriented rear-engine dragster.

San Rafael's Steve Zappetini & Son Inc., San Anselmo's Marin County Speed & Marine and Air Research Blowers have combined talents in building the "Top Wop" of Dave Zappetini, a 27-year-old San Rafaelite.

Through the firms' teamwork, Zappetini now has a car that reaches 226½ miles per hour with an engine setup geared to safety.

However, any car with a 227-inch wheel base, 1,500 horsepower in a 480 cubic inch, 1957 Chrysler motor that can cover a quarter mile in 6.54 seconds can not be deemed a "family car."

He paused to point out a myriad of racing and safety features built into it, such as "the fact that it is low, lean and long and has some 67 inches on the wheel base of my original Double A dragster, Ernest and Julio."

"This bigger wheel base gives me more control, and I also have increased control with the added weight on the rear wheel."

In addition, "the Ernest and Julio," which I sold when I got this car six months ago, runs on gas; my new one runs on nitro methane fuel."

Though the fuel versus gas factor represents a notable difference to Zappetini, the rear engine layout leads to another aspect of even greater significance. "In the case of an explosion, the driver," (Zappetini's partner Jim Garatti, the Bianco Cadillac parts department manager in Corte Madera) "will have the fire in back of him. And he won't have to worry about the burning oil spilling over his body," Zappetini continued.

He also noted that "under normal racing conditions, there is another advantage: you don't have to look over and around your motor; you have a better view of the track."

Despite the increased viewing scope and other advantages, the vehicle's initial racing efforts have been less than rewarding.

"We didn't qualify last week when we brought it down to Bakersfield for the Fuel and Gas Championships in the AA fuel event. We had a blower explosion, which caused backfiring," Zappetini recalled.

Despite the setback, the auto that was named the "Top Wop" by a Santa Rosa painter "so people will remember it," is scheduled to run in the Fremont Northern Nationals tomorrow Fri. through Sunday.

When the vehicle reaches the starting line, possibly Zappetini will mutter a quiet "thanks" to Ken Ellis of Los Angeles who built the body and Los Angeles' Race Car Specialty Company who contributed the chassis.

"But we built the motor," Zappetini said proudly before reminiscing about his introduction to the sport. "This all started as a hobby three years ago. My partner (Garatti) and I used to go and watch car races. We then decided to build one on our own. We worked nights and weekends for 11½ months," Zappetini said.

The result was the "Ernest and Julio," named after the famous wine masters of the Gallo vineyards, right?

"In part," he smiled, "but it was more to it than that. I used to call Jim 'Ernest' because of his fondness for wine, and we ended up naming the car that way.

The "Ernest and Julio," with a 987-pound motor in the front, won the Combo Eliminator race in Sacramento last July. "We also raced it in the Winter nationals at Pomona and at Fremont.

"We had that car for two years before we sold it in January when we got this car."

A's, Giants In Bay Area Title Series

MESA, Ariz. (UPI)—Oakland and San Francisco squared off today in the Arizona desert in the first of their two exhibition meetings for the unofficial Bay Area baseball championship.

The Athletics threw their best —lefty Ken Holtzman and right-hander Jim Hunter — against the Giants Mike McCormick, Jim Barr and Jerry Johnson. The only other time the A's and Giants will meet will be March 17 at Phoenix.

A's manager Dick Williams also said he will look at pitchers Rollie Fingers, Darold Knowles and Bob Locker in today's game.

Meanwhile in Scottsdale, the Giants opened their Cactus League campaign Wednesday by teeing off on Cy Young winner Ferguson Jenkins for five runs in the first two innings en route to a 10-8 victory.

SAN RAFAEL RUNNER

Duncan On Shrine Team

Running back Scott Duncan of San Rafael High School today became the first Marin County player in four years to be named for the prestigious mid-summer North-South Shrine football game in Los Angeles.

Officials for the game announced the entire 25-man roster for the North team, including six running backs. The game is scheduled for July 27, a Thursday night, in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Duncan is the tenth player to be chosen from what is now the Marin County Athletic League, and the first since wide receiver Don Alvarado of Drake in 1968. He's only the third Marin player in a dozen years.

Duncan, 19, carried the ball 144 times last season for 976 yards and 16 touchdonws, averaging 6.6 yards a carry. He led the league in rushing and was named to the all-league team as a running back for the third consecutive year, this time unanimously.

He also was an all-league defensive back for the second straight season. In addition, he returned punts, kickoffs, interceptions and fumbles, compiling a total net yardage of 1,520.

Coach Bob Muster called the 5-foot-10, 175-pounder "a throwback to an earlier day — a pleasure to coach. He really has a case of pigskin dementia."

Other Marin selections for the game were Jim Troppmann, quarterback, and his father Bob, coach, both Redwood High School, 1963; Bob Hector, guard, Tamalpais, and Kent Francisco, tackle, San Rafael, 1960; Ron Snidow, tackle, San Rafael, and Jack Sparrow, quarterback, Novato, 1959; Mike Watters, end, San Rafael, and Willie Hector, guard, Tamalpais, 1957; and Dick Rush, guard, Tamalpais, 1952.

Four Games On Tourney Schedule

Tamalpais High School's basketball team was to play the opening game of the Tournament of Champions at the Oakland Coliseum Arena today at 4:30 p.m.

Tam (19-7), which won the Marin County Athletic League with a 12-2 record, was paired with Hayward High (21-5), champion of the Hayward Area Athletic League.

Other games pit Dublin (20-2) from the East Bay Athletic League against defending tournament champion Berkeley (21-9) of the Alameda County Athletic League, 6 p.m.; Bishop O'Dowd of Oakland (29-0) from the Catholic Athletic League against Balboa of San Francisco (17-6) from the Academic Athletic Association, 7:30 p.m.; and Fremont (18-2) of the Oakland Athletic League against San Joaquin Memorial of Fresno (23-2) from the Central Section, 9 p.m.

The winner of Tamalpais-Hayward will play the winner of Dublin-Berkeley in a semifinal game tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. The losers will clash in a consolation bracket game at 4:30. The tournament concludes Saturday.

Most tournament observers feel that Bishop O'Dowd and San Joaquin Memorial are the strongest teams, although Berkeley also is feared. Hayward, Balboa, Dublin and Tam are lightly regarded.

The North Bay Officials Association is providing two officials for the tournament, although neither is from Marin County. They are Willis McJunkin of Vallejo and Jerry Gillespie from Petaluma. North Bay officials will work the championship game this year, a rotating duty.

San Francisco Grabs Cage Title

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The University of San Francisco is back in the basketball big time today, thanks to a young, balanced squad.

Between 1955 and 1965, the Dons won seven conference titles and two national ones and they grabbed their first conference crown since then Wednesday with a 63-56 win over runnerup Santa Clara in an emotion-packed game on the hilltop. That landed them in the National Collegiate Athletic Association tourney.

The Dons, who have only two seniors on their squad, wound up 13-1 in the West Coast Athletic Conference and 19-7 for the season. But the soph-loaded squad was 3-5 after eight games and came around with experience and after big Kevin Restani recovered from injuries. They were 16-2 over the last 18 games, with both losses in overtime.

Santa Clara, which finished 11-3 and 17-9, was led by Mike Stewart as usual with 18 points, but ookie USF coach Bob Gaillard pointed out that Restani and Byron "Snake" Jones held the Bronc pivot man to just six rebounds.

USF blew a 14-point lead but outscored Santa Clara 20-12 down the stretch. Mike Quick hit 17 to lead the Dons, who will face the winner of Long Beach State-Brigham Young in the forthcoming NCAA joust.

Gaillard commented that "it is really tough to defense us because of our balance whereas Mike Stewart was their one big guy."

In one other contest with post-season implications, Fred DeVaughn scored 19 points and grabbed 15 rebounds to lead Westmont past Azusa 78-69 in the NAIA District 3 finals.

Westmont, 19-8, won a berth in the NAIA national tourney at Kansas City, March 13-18.

Seals End Winless String, 6-3

OAKLAND (UPI) — One month of winless hockey has come to an end for the California Golden Seals.

With Joey Johnston leading the way with three goals, the Seals blasted the Buffalo Sabres 6-3 Wednesday night.

In the Sabres, the Seals found someone they can beat with regularity. In six games between the clubs this season, the Golden Seals glittered with a 3-0-3 record.

MARIN BOXER IN 'GLOVES' CHAMPIONSHIP

Wallace Campbell, 20-year-old boxer from Novato, will be fighting Erwin Williams of Oakland in the 165-pound finals of the 42nd annual 1972 Golden Gloves amateur boxing championships tomorrow night at the Civic Auditorium in San Francisco.

Campbell, a graduate of Novato High, won two second round knockouts on the way to the finals. He knocked out Hector Negrete of Stockton Monday night and then kayoed Felix Garcia of Napa Tuesday night.

The 20-bout championship card begins at 7 p.m.

Bespectacled Palmer Returns

Palmer is defending champion in the $150,000 Citrus Open golf tournament which began today in his adopted hometown and he's anxious "to win one before the home folks." But, even more important, he'd like to regain the career money lead he lost, after a decade, to Jack Nicklaus this past Monday.

Neither feat will come easy. Nicklaus, 10 years younger than Palmer, appears to be at the peak of his brilliant golf game and could be headed for his finest season of his victory studded, 10-year pro career.

Nicklaus won last week at Doral with four straight sub-par rounds, including a course record 64, to become the year's first two-time winner and he tuned up for the Citrus Wednesday with another subpar performance in the pro-am.

Palmer, in returning to action, sat out the Doral after shooting 80-79 in the last two rounds of the previous week's Inverrary Classic, a tournament in which Nicklaus closed with 71-67 to finish second, by only a stroke, to Tom Weiskopf.

"That's when I decided I needed eye glasses," said Palmer. "I decided I really needed them when I shot 80-79." Palmer revealed that he has been using glasses "but I've never used them on the course, in a tournament that is."

This year's Citrus Open has almost all the top stars of the pro golf tour. Only notable absentees are Bob Hope Classic winner Bob Rosburg, currently No. 3 on the money list, who is simply taking a week off and Billy Casper, who seldom plays on Florida grass because of an allergy.

Drake '9' In Lone Marin Win

Opportunism, as practiced by the Los Angeles Dodgers in the early 1960s, was the watchword yesterday when Marin County high school baseball teams earned a win, a loss and two ties in four non-league games.

Sir Francis Drake High School had the only win, a 4-0 shutout of Piner High of Santa Rosa on the loser's diamond, implementing errors and walks with infrequent hits to earn the win.

San Marin High received good pitching from Greg Mazares in playing to a 2-2 standoff with the Sacred Heart Irish at Funston Field in San Francisco. Redwood tied Berkeley High, there, 5-5 in a game called by darkness after eight innings. San Rafael lost to Mission High of San Francisco, 7-4, at Albert Park.

TWO RUNS

The Pirates collected two runs in both the third and sixth innings to insure the victory. Doug Harnsberger singled in two teammates who were on via bases on balls in the third, and Bob Mayer plated John Billings with a sacrifice fly in the sixth. The other Drake run that inning came on an error, a passed ball, and an infield out.

"We got a lot of action with only two hits," coach Dick Creighton grinned. Don Asay, who kept Piner scoreless for the first three innings, was credited with the victory.

SAN MARIN

San Marin, like Drake, only got two hits and was opportunistic in earning the tie with Sacred Heart. A walk, a sacrifice, and an error scored Rich Villa with the first Mustang run in the second inning.

In the sixth, Greg Mazeres scrambled for a triple when the Irish outfielder lost his fly ball in the sun. Dave Ilchert knocked Mazeres with a smash at shortstop that proved too tough to handle.

FOUR PITCHERS

HENDERSON CAUGHT IN DOUBLE PLAY

San Francisco Giants' outfielder Ken Henderson was doubled off first base after Chicago Cubs' second baseman Glenn Beckert snagged a line drive and fired to Joe Pepitone (8) yesterday in exhibition baseball action at Scottsdale, Ariz. The Giants won the opener, 10-8.

Cleveland Sale In Flux

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI) — Nick Mileti, who wants to add the Cleveland Indians to the basketball and hockey teams he already owns, got only a "maybe" from the American League, but he figures that is almost as good as a "yes."

"I haven't heard anything yet we can't satisfy," Mileti said Wednesday after presenting the AL owners with his plan for buying the troubled Cleveland franchise.

"The meeting went just as I expected," he said. "I never said this would be wrapped up in a day." The meeting lasted seven hours.

"It's a very serious matter with many ramifications and you just don't wave a magic wand to solve everything and do it. It's one of the reasons it's worthwhile," Miletti added.

Joe Cronin, the AL president, said there was still some "financial refinements" to be settled, and scheduled another weague meeting for March 22 at St. Petersburg, Fla. Mileti's purchase is expected to receive approval at that time.

"Time was the most important element," Cronin said, explaining details of Mileti's near $10 million offer to restaurant magnate Vernon Stouffer did not get into the hands of the other owners until Monday.

"The owners did not have proper time to digest the application," Cronin said. "Mr. Mileti made a fine presentation. We in the AL recognize his ability as a promoter and gogetter. Most of the members of the league feel that baseball will be in good hands with him."

But Cronin admitted the league was scrutinizing Mileti's plans with more than normal caution. The league has been rocked twice in three years with under-financed franchises that were moved from Seattle and Washington and Cronin said the owners were sensitive about approving the sale without complete details.

Gridder Convicted Of Forgery

By U.P.INTERNATIONAL

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — John Wilson, former starting halfback for the University of Illinois football team, has been convicted for forgery.

Wilson, who gained the starting halfback position with the Illini as a sophomore last year, was convicted last night in Champaign County Circuit Court of forging signatures on three of 11 credit card purchases made with a stolen credit card.

Wilson, of Miami, Fla., is no longer a student at the university. He was arrested last October when he attempted to make a purchase with the stolen card.

Wilson's attorney admitted that Wilson had used the card but said Wilson did not know it was stolen.

More Football

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. — Archie Bennett, a starting defensive tackle for the University of Arkansas football team, was in serious condition early today with a bullet wound in his stomach.

Police said Bennett, a 21-year-old junior from Millington, Tenn., was shot accidentally while "joking and kidding around" with his roommate at the University's athletic dorm early Wednesday. No charges were filed.

Basketball

CHICAGO, Ill. — Big Ten faculty representatives declined to lift the suspensions of University of Minnesota basketball player Corky Taylor and Ron Behagen after a last-resort appeal.

The Big Ten decision yesterday will send the league champion Gophers into the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament without the assist of the two 6-foot-9 juniors.

PINE BLUFF, Ark. — The Faculty Committee of the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference yesterday voted to cancel all scheduled athletic events between Arkansas AM&N College at Pine Bluff and other AIC schools for the remainder of the spring semester.

The action was taken as a result of disturbances that broke out after the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics playoffs at Arkadelphia, Ark., when Southern State College defeated AM&N Monday night.

SEATTLE — Seattle Supersonics owner Sam Schulman doesn't feel his million dollar forward Spencer Haywood should have to dodge puddles of water when leading a fast break in the Seattle Center Coliseum.

WASHINGTON — Top-seeded Stan Smith of Pasadena advanced last night to the quarterfinals of the 1972 Equity Funding International Tennis Championships with a 6-4, 6-2 victory over Vladimir Zednik of Czechoslovakia.

Denver Broncos Sign Phillips, Three Others

DENVER (UPI)—The Denver Broncos signed four players Wednesday, including their No. 2 draft pick, Bill Phillips of Arkansas State.

Head Coach John Ralston said the 6-foot-2, 245-pound Phillips, a linebacker from Harrison, Ark., was signed to a three-year contract. Terms were unannounced.

Also signed were running back Tom Bougus, 5-11, 210-pounds, of Boston College, Denver's 13th draft selection, and free agents Eric Stolberg, a wide receiver from Indiana, and Don Caldwell of Fullerton, Calif.

California Golden Seals' Bobby Sheehan fell hard to the Oakland Coliseum-Arena ice last night after colliding with Buffalo's Mike Robitaille (3) during the first period. Sheehan got up and helped the Seals defeat the Sabres 6-3. Sheehan recorded a pair of assists, one in the first and another in the third period, as the Seals ended a 10-game winless string.

Toronto In Hockey Win, 5-1

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

With the top positions in each division virtually secured, the only real battles remaining in the National Hockey League are those for the final playoff berths. Only the fourth and final spot in the East Division remains open, and the Toronto Maple Leafs helped themselves handily in their duel with Detroit by whipping the Red Wings 5-1 Wednesday night. Toronto now leads the Wings by two points and also has a game in hand.

The West Division scramble is more wide open with four teams bidding for third and fourth places. St. Louis, which was idle, currently is third with 57 points, followed by the Philadelphia Flyers with 55, the California Golden Seals with 54 and the Pittsburgh Penguins with 51.

Philadelphia edged the Vancouver Canucks 6-5 Wednesday night while California beat the Buffalo Sabres 6-3 and Pittsburgh dropped a tough 5-4 decision to the Montreal Canadiens.

The Boston Bruins, who lead the East Division race by eight points, overcame a two-goal deficit to nip the Minnesota North Stars 5-4 and in the only other game Wednesday night, the West Division leading Chicago Black Hawks skated to a 3-3 tie against the New York Rangers.

Five different players scored for Toronto, with Ron Ellis getting what proved to be the winner on a power play after 26 seconds of the second period. It was Ellis' 17th goal and his sixth game winner.

Philadelphia, trailing 3-1 after the first period, fought back with four straight goals in the second period to go ahead 5-3. Vancouver moved back into a tie on goals by Dave Balon and Dale Tallon, but Barry Ashbee got the winner for the Flyers at 10:54 of the third period.

Jim Roberts and Frank Mahovlich scored in the final period to snap a 3-3 tie and enable the Canadiens to gain their seventh consecutive victory. Montreal scored on its first two shots of the game, by Jacques Lemaire and Roberts, before Pittsburgh retaliated with three goals to move in front.

Boston, which three times trailed by two goals, caught up to Minnesota on Doug Roberts' first goal of the season with 10 seconds left in the second period and got the winner on Johnny Bucyk's 27th goal at 7:30 of the final session.

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current price less the following dollar allowance:

Tread Wear Expectancy	Tread Wear-Out Allowance
Primero 35,000 miles WTO/Radial 40,000 miles	Prorated on Miles Driven

THE SKI SCENE

Program For Kids Is One Way To Go

By CHARLIE COANE

If you are the parents of two or three youngsters between the ages of 9 and 17 and they have suddenly decided that they would like to learn how to ski, what do you do if you don't ski? You have three main choices: say no, learn how to ski with them or enroll them in a community ski program.

A community ski program does not involve parents at all — except for the dollars. In a nutshell, the kids join a club which then handles all of their skiing activities. There are tens of thousands of young people in programs throughout the United States. In the Bay Area, the three main groups are Mogul, Huski and Blizzard ski clubs. All three clubs operate basically the same, and all are headquartered in Marin County.

Mogul, the biggest, began seven years ago as the brainstorm of founder and director Terry Hoy. There are about 1,700 members throughout the Bay Area. The club is for boys and girls between the ages of 9 and 17 and the purpose is "to provide them the opportunity to enjoy skiing on a regular basis, and to develop their skiing ability in a safe and correct manner," says Hoy.

This is done through supervised one-day instructional trips on Saturdays and Sundays to Squaw Valley, Alpine Meadows and Boreal Ridge. There are also full weekend trips, a week-long, out of state spring vacation tour and special summer activities.

Yearly membership runs about $35 - $75 depending upon which area you plan to ski. Each has a slightly different approach. The fee includes a two-hour ski lesson each trip with not more than eight in a class, supervision and chaperoning, and complete club activities. Transportation runs $8.50 to $9 and reduced lift tickets are $3.50 and $7.5. There are special family rates, too.

A typical Saturday or Sunday trip begins around 5 a.m. at any of the 25 Bay Area pick-up locations. A chartered bus wisks them to the resorts by 9 or 9:30 a.m. They get their tickets, check their lesson time and location and off they go. All arrive home around 8 p.m.

The whole program is very well organized for hot skiers as well as those who have never set foot in the snow. All members receive cards and emblems, and each skier also has A - F pins corresponding to his or her lesson classes. The club has its own certified instructors.

Programs are based upon 10 - 12 trips per season. In case of bad weather, the trips will be made up later in the season. There are now even groups for youngsters 4 to 8 years old.

If you would like more detailed information about Mogul, write Terry Hoy, 163 Tunstead Avenue, San Anselmo. In charge of Huski Ski Club is Suzanne Gray, and mailing address is P.O. Box 4267, San Rafael. Director of the Blizzard club is John Baker of San Rafael.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG

Successful bowlers have a myriad of styles, and they all seem to work. I think that if you study their actions, in person or on television, you'll find that a majority of these stars "salute" at the finish. That is, the right hand is up near the eyes. The indicates that the through-swing with the arm was full and uninhibited, the kind that scrambles those pins.

Wlodarczyk Takes School Cage Award

Steve Wlodarczyk of Rancho Cotate High School in Rohnert Park Tuesday received the Cougars' "Most Valuable Basketball Player" award at the school's fifth annual Winter Sports Banquet.

Wlodarczyk, who was named to the All-Sonoma County League first team for the second straight year Tuesday night in Santa Rosa, led the Cougars to their first winning season in basketball. "Steve was our leader. We went to him for scoring, to lead the fast break and to head the defense. He filled the bill on every count," commented Rancho Cotate cage coach Mike Francis. Wlodarczyk led the Cougars in scoring with 18.5 points per game for the season and 16.5 in league and was co-leader in free throw percentage with 71.4 per cent.

Other basketball awards were given to Marshall Brant, "Best Rebounder" with 238 rebounds for the season, and John Sorenson, "Most Improved Basketball Player." Sorenson didn't play much this year, but "he could be amazing next year."

Wrestling honors were given to Harry Buerrer for "Most Improved Basketball Player." Sorenson didn't play much this year, but "he could be amazing next year," according to Francis.

Wrestling honors were given to Harry Buerrer for "Most Improved Wrestler" and Marin Clarey for being the "Most Valuable Wrestler." Clarey, who led the Cougars individually with a record of 22-2, was named team captain.

Soviet Pair Wins Second Skate Title

CALGARY, Canada (UPI)—The spectacular victory Wednesday night of the world pairs crown for the fourth consecutive year by Olympic gold medalists Irina Rodnina and Alexei Ulanov sets the mood today for World Champion Ondrej Nepela in his bid to retain the men's title in the World Figure Skating Championships.

The Russian couple so far outclassed other competitors with their highly original and challenging free-skating exhibition that they were unbeatable

Chris Evert Beats Net Foe In Dallas

DALLAS (UPI)—Seven of the eight seeded players left in the Maureen Connolly Brinker tennis tournament compete in the second round today, with top-seeded Evonne Goolagong of Australia meeting countrywoman Helen Gourley in the leading attraction.

Miss Goolagong, making her first appearance in the United States after her success at Wimbledon last year, figures to be a near cinch to make it at least as far as the semifinals, when she probably will run into either young Chris Evert or veteran Billie Jean King.

Miss Evert, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., got into the second round Wednesday night with a 6-2, 6-1 decision over Cynthia Seiler while Mrs. King, of Long Beach, Calif., breezed past Kris Kremmer, 6-2, 6-1.

In other top matches Wednesday second-seeded Rosemary Casals of San Francisco whipped Barbara Downs 6-1, 6-1 and sixth-seeded Francois Durr of France defeated Marcy Louie, 6-3, 6-2.

In today's second round, besides Miss Goolagong's outing, Miss Casals will take on Leslie Hunt of Australia.

FAREWELL TO CHARLIE'S — Clifford Chiaroni, owner of Charlie's Market in San Rafael, arranges his dwindling shelves for the last time. After 40 years, the neighborhood market in the West End area of town was forced to close because of competition from bigger stores.

Closing Of Market Marks End Of Era

It is the latest of the many small family groceries that have succumbed to the competition from large chain and discount stores that are springing up around them.

Clifford Chiaroni, store owner, said frankly: "We just went bankrupt — competition from all the discount stores was just too much." He said he wanted to continue serving the faithful customers of West End area of town but was forced to shut down last month.

The market has a long history dating back to 1930 or 1931 when Charlie Zapelli and his wife Ida of Terra Linda opened the neighborhood store. Because of its friendly and homey atmosphere, Charlie's Market became the favorite gathering place, a type of "social center" for residents of West End. Clerks and customers called each other by first names, exchanged news of family and friends and passed the time of day.

At its prime, Charlie's Market had 10 employees, but it never lost its friendly atmosphere.

Chiaroni said he has no immedaite plans for the future but is busy painting his house and doing other needed chores around his home in Santa Venetia.

Watch Results Of ARD Merger Before Dumping

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I hold shares of American Research & Development and Textron. Should I sell ARD before the merger or hold? — L.T.

A. If the merger proposal: (1) is approved by shareholders, (2) receives a favorable tax ruling and (3) is adjudged by Lehman Bros. as being fair to ARD holders, it would be advantageous for you to hold. ARD will distribute its 45 per cent equity interest in Digital Equipment to shareholders, prior to the merger, on a .75-for-1 basis. In addition .3 of a share of Textron will be given for each ARD share held.

Based on present trading levels for the three Big Board stocks, the exchange has a market value 12½ per cent greater than ARD's current, which is selling at a 2 per cent discount from its Dec. 31, 1971 net asset value.

If and when the merger is consummated, the market price for Digital will probably experience some weakness as shares move into public hands. The expansion in the floating supply of share is viewed favorably, though, over the longer term. Even without DEC, ARD's portfolio will have a market value estimated to be in excess of $60 million. In order to counterbalance the dilutive effects of the 1.84 million (current market worth — $64 million) shares to be distributed in the merger, TXT may dispose of some portions of the ARD portfolio.

Textron, a broadly diversified multicompany, recently reported earnings of $2.06 a share versus $1.90 in 1970, despite virtually flat year-to-year sales comparisons. Probable write-offs in the Metal Products and Industrial groups may have been partially responsible for the lower 1971 sales figure.

Hagel Services To A New Home

Tomorrow's grand opening of Hagel Services' new headquarters at 80 Belvedere Street in San Rafael marks another milestone in the remarkable success story of a German immigrant who started as a handyman soliciting door-to-door on a bicycle less than 20 years ago.

Gunther Hagel, president, now heads a company with three divisions (maintenance, steam, and supply), a fleet of 32 vehicles, and a staff of almost 50.

His new building has 16,000 square feet of floor space, with offices upstairs, showroom on the street floor and warehouse to the rear. The new headquarters replaces his old office at 5 F Street, San Rafael, where an eight-unit apartment will be built.

Hagel exemplifies the American Dream, in which a penniless immigrant with nothing more than a strong back and willingness to work can climb to the top of the heap.

A native of Hamburg, Germany, Hagel came to the United States in 1952 and worked as a bottler in a San Rafael soft drink plant and as a pinsetter in a bowling alley. He also rode a bicycle from door to door seeking janitorial or other odd jobs around the home.

A year later he went into the maintenance business as a one-man, one-car operation, working 18 hours a day. In a few short years, the name Gunther Hagel became a household word among Marin residents. His firm services homes, offices and commercial establishments.

"Having the privilege of serving Marin residents for over 20 years, I wish to invite all my customers and friends to visit and inspect our new facilities," said Hagel.

He lives with his wife and their daughter in Santa Venetia. His married son, Wolfgang Hagel, is carpet-steam manager for the firm.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

Charitable Deductions Are Now Under Some Very Strict Rules

Charitable contributions of appreciated property are now subject to some new strict rules.

Now, the amount deductible depends on whether the property is "ordinary income property" or "long term capital gain property" and in the case of long term capital gain property it also depends on the type of charity it is given to.

There are two types of charities in the rules: Twenty and 50 per cent charities. This means that you can give and deduct up to 20 per cent or 50 per cent of your adjusted gross income in the taxable year.

"Public charities" or "50 per cent charities" are churches, educational institutions, tax-exempt hospitals and organizations which normally receive a substantial part of their support from the government or the general public such as libraries, Red Cross, United Crusade, Cancer Society, etc., plus private operating foundations, certain private non-operating foundations and community foundations.

All others are 20 per cent charities.

In the case of ordinary income property, the amount deductible is the taxpayer's cost or other basis in the property.

Examples of ordinary property are inventories, literary, artistic or musical compositions created by the donor, short term capital gain assets, and the ordinary income portion of property subject to depreciation recapture.

If long term capital gain property is given to a "50 per cent charity", the deduction allowable is the full fair market value of the property, but the deduction is limited to 30 per cent of adjusted gross income. It can qualify for the 50 per cent limitation, however, if you elect to reduce its fair market value by one-half of the appreciation.

If long term capital gain property is given to a "20 per cent charity", the amount of the deduction is the fair market value reduced by one-half of the appreciation.

Examples of long term capital gain property are stocks and bonds, real estate, etc., held for more than six months.

One further restriction has to do with tangible personal property such as paintings) books etc., created by someone other than the donor. If such property is given to a donee whose use of the assets is unrelated to its charitable function, the fair market value must be reduced by one-half of the appreciatqon to arrive at the amount deductible.

Colonial Liquors Will Open New Store In Corte Madera

The Corte Madera store will be located at an old service station site across Willow Avenue from the city hall. It will replace Colonial Liquors' Novato store on Grant Avenue, which closed the first of this month.

Wendell L. Brown of Greenbrae and his mother, Georgia W. Brown of Ross, own and operate Colonial Liquors. "Our new store in Corte Madera will be the same type of operation, perhaps a little larger than our Kentfield store," said Mrs. Brown. "We will keep the same Colonial decor at the new store and hope to have it ready about August."

Dexter Hollis

GEORGE DEXTER JR. and Jay Hollis of Dexter Toyota at 445 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, have been named winners of the Toyota National Customer Service award. John McGovern, Toyota national customer relations manager, said the award symbolizes the highest achievement attainable in dealer-customer relations.

CALA FOODS Inc. will buy the Shoreline Market grocery store and offsale liquor license at 207 Flamingo Road, Tamalpais Valley, this month.

This will be Cala's sixth store in Marin County and the 20th in Northern California.

Robert O'Connor, who is in charge of operations at the Cala office in San Francisco, said Shoreline Market will retain its name and will continue to operate without change.

Cala paid $25,000 for Shoreline Market's liquor license, but the price of the grocery store itself was not disclosed.

Golden West Financial Corp. of Oakland has acquired Hanford Savings and Loan Association. Golden West Financial is the parent company of Golden West Savings and Loan, which has 21 offices including one in Corte Madera.

THE ALBERT Building on B Street in San Rafael lost one of its oldest institutions when dentist William H. Barr moved out of the building to his new offices at 1534 Fifth Avenue this year.

The Barr family had been tenants of the Albert Building for some 40 years. Dr. Barr's father, Arthur Barr, and his uncle, Thomas Barr, both opened dental offices in the Albert Building about 1930 or 1931. Dr. William Barr moved into the Albert Building in 1951 and remained there for 20 years until January of this year.

BANK OF AMERICA has issued a 71-page environmental handbook called "Getting Down to Earth." Written for the layman, it analyzes the major sources and possible solutions to problems of waste disposal, air and water pollution. It includes a capsule history of the San Francisco Bay oil spill of Jan. 18, 1971, and an article on a major breakthrough in the cleaning of oil-covered birds.

You can get the book by writing the Public Relations Department of Bank of American NT & SA, Post Office Box 37000, Rincon Annex, San Francisco, 94137. Include $1 for mailing and handling cost.

REAL ESTATE BOOM — Marin appears headed for the biggest real estate boom in years. Home & Land Co.'s six real estate offices in Marin County reported a record $1.4 million in gross sales for a seven-day period ending Feb. 29. They had 25 sales, all homes.

General Manager Robert C. Butler said this was the biggest week ever for his company. He said demand for homes is far outstripping supply, and average prices keep going up.

Butler attributed the boom in real estate sales to excellent interest rates that are the lowest in five years, good money supply, and the fact that Marin has more appeal to the ecology-conscious than almost any other place in the nation.

Market Is Mixed At The Opener

NEW YORK (UPI)—Trading was heavy as the stock market turned mixed Thursday on the New York Stock Exchange. The NYSE ticker ran behind floor trading several times during the first two hours.

Analysts said the market was characterized by profit taking and some selective buying. There was considerable block activity, indicating institutions were participating heavily in the market.

Prices were mixed in fairly active trading on the American Stock Exchange. BTB Corp. was the most active issue, up 18 at 2 1-4 on 36,800 shares.

Another active issue was Boise Cascade, up 1 1-4. The company has received a favorable court ruling in a land development dispute in California.

PLANTING OF A CHRISTMAS TREE

Mayor Earl J. O'Grady of Larkspur, parasol in hand, shields Nellie Doherty from the enjoyable but unseasonable winter sun while the long-time Larkspur resident plants a city Christmas tree in memory of her husband. Sue Schaefer, president of the Larkspur Chamber of Commerce, oversees the work. The Dolph Doherty Memorial Christmas Tree was planted at Magnolia Avenue and Doherty Drive, also named after the late fire chief and owner of the Larkspur Lumber Co., amid temperatures Tuesday rarely seen at Christmas or even early March. The thermometer peaked at 82 in Novato and 79 in San Rafael.

3 Reed Teachers May Lose Jobs

Reed School District trustees indicated last night that three of the district's 107 teachers may lose their jobs next school year because of a projected enrollment decline.

Supt. Ralph D. Giovaniello said the board, acting following a closed session, asked staff to notify the three they might not be reemployed for 1972-73 because student enrollment, now 1,896, may drop by as much as 100.

However, Giovaniello said, the drop in enrollment might not be that sharp and the teachers might not be released. Further, he said, "I have every expectation that, through attrition, the people will be getting their jobs back."

In other business, the board received a position paper against forced student busing from Trustee Leo Souza, and scheduled discussion for the next board meeting on March 21.

Trustees also awarded tenure to eight teachers, hired Patricia Burnside at $2.51 an hour as a teacher aide, replacing Helen McMillen who resigned to take another job, and was told by Giovaniello he will be at Reed School Saturday from 1:30 p.m. to 3 p.m. to talk to parents about the district.

Ancient Weapons Stolen

A collection on ancient weaponry, including a jeweled silver sword, a 1,000-year-old Tibetan battle ax and a 17th century armored gauntlet, was taken from the home of a Tiburon attorney sometime Tuesday, according to Belvedere police.

The collection, conservatively valued at $2,400, was taken from the home of Louis C. Lenzen, 339 San Rafael Avenue, sometime during the day by burglars who broke in by smashing a window.

The jeweled sword, valued at $500, is inscribed with words from the Koran and was made in the early 19th century. Another sword taken was used by a soldier in Napoleon's army and is brass with a leather scabbard.

A Florentine rapier made in the 16th Century and valued at $200; the armored gauntlets, made in England in the 17th Century, $300; a silver Turkish rapier with silver scabbard, $100; a Balinese daggar, $100; a helmet used during the battle of Waterloo, $200; a mandolin; a pine chest made in France in 1810; modern-day cufflinks; a pendant and a television set.

Coffee Slated

A candidates coffee hosting Allan Littman, candidate for Tiburon city councilman will be held at the home of Col. and Mrs. Winston A. Jones at 20 Apollo Road in Belveron East, at 2:00 P.M. on Sunday, March 12, 1972.

Bill Seeks To Remove 'Flaws'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman Willie L. Brown, D-San Francisco, has introduced legislation eliminating the two-per-month limitation on visits to doctors by Medi-Cal recipients.

Brown, chairman of the Assembly Ways and Means Committe, said Tuesday his measure is designed to remove what he said were "flaws" from the Medi-Cal Reform Act enacted last year. "Most of these program flaws center around obtaining medical and dental care when it's needed," the legislator said.

"Because of the arbitrary treatment limitations in the act and because of either incompetent or indifferent bureaucrats, people who need care simply aren't getting it."

3 ISLANDS WHOLESALE

To some of the best destinations in the travel business.

Manhattan

Next time you go to New York on business, do something a little different. Bring along your wife.

You pay the regular round-trip coach fare yourself. Add another $106.92* for her and she gets to come with you. (And to come back home, too.)

But that's not all. For that startlingly low price, your wife also stays with you free at Sheraton Hotels in New York.

To qualify, you and your wife must travel together, with no stopovers. And you must return within five days (including departure day). All in all, qualifications not so tough to take for a deal that's so easy to take.

We've also got another vacation plan in New York you might be interested in. We call it our Great White Way Tour and it's a dandy.

For $75† plus air fare, we give you 4 days, 3 nights in Gotham, with hotel, your choice of theater tickets or a visit to a night club, plus city tours. All included. It's a nice way to see what makes Manhattan the world's most exciting little island.

Puerto Rico

The playground of the East Coast. And now we can fly you there via New York for just $26.52 more than the regular round-trip coach fare to New York alone.

Just $352.52.

In fact, if you and your wife are planning to be in New York on business, it's a great place to spend a week before heading home. We've put together some terrific vacations that start as low as $70† for 7 full days. And that includes accommodations at a fine hotel, free cocktails, tickets to El Comandante Race Track, and more. Plus a free day's trip to beautiful St. Thomas where we'll give you a sightseeing tour of the island and a chance to do some duty-free shopping.

The Virgin Islands

The American Virgin Islands are actually made up of three islands. St. Thomas, St. Croix, and St. John's.

We can take you to St. Thomas and St. Croix via New York

We can also arrange some spectacular vacations that'll let you see the Virgin Islands the way they should be seen.

Our vacations start at $76† for 7 full days. You might be able to match the price. But you'll have trouble matching what you get for the price. So pick an island. Manhattan, Puerto Rico, or the Virgin Islands. Or a couple of Islands. Then call your Travel Agent. Or call us.

American Airlines
